Dans les provinces de Québec et du Manitoba.

Dans la Gazette du Canada en anglais et en français ainsi que dans un journal anglais et un journal français, du district intéressé, ou en anglais et en français dans le même journal, s'il ne s'en publie qu'un seul dans ce district ; ou s'il n'y paraît pas de journal, alors la publication de l'avis en anglais et en français doit se faire dans un journal du district le plus voisin où il s'en publie.

L'honoraire de $200 payable sur tout bill privé, ne sera payé que dans la Chambre où ce bill a pris naissance ; mais les frais de réimpression et de traduction nécessités par ce bill seront payés dans la Chambre où ces frais sont encourus.

Règlement No. 13.

Attendu que le capital-actions de la Banque de Montréal est aujourd'hui de $12,000,000, et qu'il est à propos de l'augmenter ;

A ces causes qu'il soit statué, par les actionnaires de la banque réunis en l'assemblée générale spéciale tenue au bureau principal de la Banque de Montréal, le septième jour de janvier 1903,—

1° Que le capital-actions de la Banque de Montréal soit, et il est par le présent augmenté de la somme de $2,000,000, divisé en 10,000 actions de $200 chacune (£50 courant.)

2° Le dit capital augmenté sera, lorsque les directeurs le détermineront, et de temps à autre s'ils le jugent bon, réparti aux actionnaires d'alors de la banque au prorata, et au taux qui sera fixé par les directeurs, mais il ne sera pas réparti de fraction d'action ; pourvu que les directeurs ne fixeront dans aucun cas un taux qui rendrait la prime (s'il y en a) payée ou payable sur ces actions ainsi réparties, plus élevée que la proportion du fonds de réserve de la banque par rapport à son capital alors payé.

3° Toutes actions réparties de temps à autre qui ne sont pas prises par l'actionnaire auquel cette répartition a été faite sous six mois à compter de la date où l'avis de la répartition est mise à la poste à son adresse, ou qu'un actionnaire refuse d'accepter, et toutes actions qui ne seront pas réparties à cause de la disposition qui précède touchant la répartition de fractions d'une action, pourront être offertes au public pour souscription, au temps, en la manière, et aux conditions que les directeurs prescriront.

The opening of the Royal International Exhibition of Athens has been fixed for the 25th of March, viz, 7th of April, 1903.

This Exhibition will certainly be visited by many thousands of people belonging to the Commercial and Scientific World of Eastern Europe, Athens being the center of the progressive movement of Industry and Trade of the Levant, and by its University the home of the Greek Element.

Possessing a situation and climate the finest in Europe, Athens, the most ancient city of the world is especially adapted for an International Exhibition in the East and will not fail to attract all those Manufacturers from the West who are anxious to open up new markets for their products, and a wide field in the future for commercial enterprises.

Many Eastern countries contain hidden resources, but none more than Greece where concealed under her soil lie sleeping treasures which only await the ploughshare and the hammer to bring forth untold wealth.

The Greek Nation in making great efforts in the way of progress has hailed with enthusiasm the announcement of this Exhibition, which may be said to be an appeal addressed to Western Industry by the Greek People.

Besides the great attraction of its Antiquities, unequalled by any other city, which yearly draw more than fifty thousand strangers to the Greek Capital, visitors to Athens will find specially organized Olympian Games, Races, Theatrical performances, and Concerts, held under the lovely sky of the Attic.

With all these advantages in view, we believe that many will hasten to participate in this Exhibition, and by so doing derive not only present advantage, but a very considerable benefit in the near future.

All bearings, unless otherwise noted, are magnetic and are given from seaward, miles are nautical miles, heights are above high water, and all depths are at mean low water.

(1) CHATHAM SOUND—ORIFLAMME PASSAGE—NEIGHBOURHOOD OF GREEN AND GREY ISLANDS—UNCHARTED ROCK—HYDROGRAPHIC NOTES.

Green island, off the east coast of Dundas island, Chatham sound, instead of being two islands lying north and south of each other, consists of a single island in two heads lying east and west of each other, the more westerly rising 20 feet above high water mark, and the more easterly 46 feet above high water mark. These two portions are joined by a low shingle beach. The south shore of the island is bold, on the north side reefs of rock extend some distance.

Two cables S. 77° W. from Grey island, in the same vicinity, is a rock which would be about awash at high water, and which is not shown on the charts. North and north-east of this rock a large patch of kelp, indicating shoal water, extends.

Local mariners state that there is foul ground to the westward of these islands extending up to Whitly point, but no examination was made of the waters.

L'ouverture de l'Exposition Royale Internationale d'Athènes a été fixée pour le 25 de mars, savoir, le 7 d'avril 1903.

Cette Exposition sera certainement visitée par des milliers de gens appartenant au monde commercial et scientifique de l'Europe Orientale, Athènes étant le centre du mouvement progressif de l'industrie et du commerce du Levant, et par son Université le foyer de l'élément grec.

Possédant une situation et un climat les plus beaux d'Europe, Athènes, la plus ancienne ville du monde

est spécialement adaptée à une Exposition Internationale en Orient, et ne manquera pas d'attirer tous ces manufacturiers de l'Occident qui sont anxieux d'ouvrir de nouveaux marchés pour leurs produits, et un vaste champ dans l'avenir pour des entreprises commerciales.

Beaucoup de contrées orientales contiennent des ressources cachées, mais nulle plus que la Grèce où, ensevelis sous le sol reposent des trésors qui n'attendent que la charrue et le marteau pour produire des richesses inconnues.

La nation grecque en faisant de grands efforts dans la voie du progrès a acclamé avec enthousiasme l'annonce de cette Exposition, qu'on peut dire être un cri d'appel adressé à l'industrie occidentale par le peuple grec.

A part la grande attraction de ses antiquités sans rivales dans aucune autre cité, qui tous les ans attirent au delà de cinquante mille étrangers à la capitale grecque, les visiteurs à Athènes trouveront spécialement organisés des jeux olympiens, des courses, des pièces de théâtre et des concerts, tenus sous le beau ciel de l'Attique.

Avec ces avantages en vue, nous croyons qu'un grand nombre se hâteront de participer à cette Exposition, et en ce faisant retireront non seulement un présent avantage, mais un très grand bienfait dans un avenir rapproché.

Règles in re Avis de bills privés.

Dans le cas de toute demande de bills privés, proprement du ressort législatif du Parlement du Canada suivant les dispositions de l'Acte de l'Amérique Britannique du Nord, 1867, ayant pour objet la concession à une ou plusieurs personnes de certains droits ou privilèges exclusifs ou particuliers, ou le pouvoir de faire quelque chose qui, dans ses effets, pourrait toucher aux droits ou à la propriété d'autrui, ou concerner une classe particulière de la société ; ou ayant pour objet quelque amendement à un acte antérieur,—un avis, énonçant d'une manière claire et intelligible la nature et l'objet de la demande (sauf s'il s'agit de corporations déjà existantes) par les pétitionnaires ou de leur part, est nécessaire et doit être publié comme il suit :—

Dans les provinces de Québec et du Manitoba.

Dans la Gazette du Canada en anglais et en français, ainsi que dans un journal anglais et un journal français, du district intéressé, ou en anglais et en français dans le même journal, s'il ne s'en publie qu'un seul dans ce district ; ou s'il n'y paraît pas de journal, alors la publication de l'avis en anglais et en français doit se faire dans un journal du district le plus voisin où il s'en publie.

Dans les autres provinces ou territoires.

Dans la Gazette du Canada, et dans un journal du comté, du district ou des comtés-unis intéressés, ou s'il n'y paraît pas de journal alors la publication doit se faire dans un journal du comté ou district le plus voisin où il s'en publie. La publication de ces avis durera, dans chaque cas, la période de deux mois au moins pendant l'intervalle de temps qui s'écoulera entre la clôture de la session précédente et la prise en considération de la pétition. Des exemplaires marqués de tous les numéros des journaux reproduisant la première et la dernière insertion de l'avis, devront être transmis au greffier de chaque chambre, et porter à l'enclos " Demande de bill privé."

Si la pétition demande l'autorisation de présenter un bill privé ayant pour objet la construction d'un pont de péage, les pétitionnaires devront aussi, en même temps et de la même manière, donner avis du taux de péages projeté, de l'étendue du privilège, de la hauteur des arches, de l'espace à laisser libre entre les culées ou les piles pour le passage des radeaux et des navires ; et, si c'est un pont mobile, quelles en seront les dimensions.

Toute personne désirant obtenir un bill privé devra, dans les huit jours au moins qui précéderont l'ouverture du parlement, déposer au bureau du greffier de la Chambre dans laquelle le bill doit prendre naissance une copie de ce bill en langue anglaise ou en langue française, avec une somme suffisante pour en payer la traduction et l'impression. Après la seconde lecture et avant la prise en considération du bill par tout comité, le pétitionnaire aura aussi à payer au greffier du Sénat, ou au comptable de la Chambre des Communes (selon le cas) un honoraire de $200, plus une somme suffisante pour défrayer le coût de l'impression de l'acte dans les Statuts, et remettra le reçu de ce paiement au greffier du comité auquel ce bill aura été renvoyé.

L'honoraire de $200 payable sur tout bill privé, ne sera payé que dans la Chambre où ce bill a pris naissance ; mais les frais de réimpression et de traduction nécessités par ce bill seront payés dans la Chambre où ces frais sont encourus.

Aucune pétition pour l'obtention d'un bill privé ne sera reçue par le Sénat ou par la Chambre des Communes, après les premières trois semaines de la session.

Aucun bill privé ne pourra être présenté au Sénat ou à la Chambre des Communes après les premières quatre semaines de la session.

49. Les pétitions pour bills privés ne seront reçues par la Chambre que pendant les trois premières semaines de la session, et les bills privés ne pourront être présentés à la Chambre que pendant les quatre premières semaines de la session ; et tout comité auquel aura été renvoyé un bill privé devra le prendre en considération et en faire rapport à la Chambre avec toute la diligence convenable.

UBSTANCE DES RÈGLES ET FORMES DE PROCÉDER DU SÉNAT CONCERNANT LES BILLS DE DIVORCE.

L'époux qui a l'intention de demander un bill de divorce doit faire connaître cette intention, ainsi que les noms de l'autre époux et la cause du divorce, par avis inséré durant six mois avant la présentation de sa pétition pour obtenir le bill, dans la Gazette du Canada et dans deux journaux du district où il avait sa résidence habituelle à l'époque de séparation d'avec son conjoint, s'il résidait alors dans la province de Québec, le Manitoba, la Colombie-Britannique, ou les Territoires du Nord-Ouest,—ou du comté ou des comtés-unis, s'il résidait dans une autre province ; mais si ce nombre de journaux ne s'y trouve pas, l'avis sera publié dans le district, le comté ou les comtés-unis voisins. Dans les provinces de Québec et de Manitoba, les insertions seront faites dans un journal anglais et un journal français, s'il en existe des deux langues dans le district : autrement, elles se feront en anglais et en français au même journal.

Il doit être signifié, à la diligence de l'époux pétitionnaire, un mois au moins avant la présentation de la pétition, une copie de cet avis à l'autre époux en personne, si cela est possible.

Aucune pétition en divorce n'est reçue après l'expiration des trente premiers jours de la session.

Toute pétition en divorce devra être écrite lisiblement et porter la signature du pétitionnaire. Elle énoncera sommairement le fait du mariage, le lieu et l'époque de sa célébration, les noms du célébrant, les griefs qui donnent lieu à la demande de redressement et la nature du redressement demandé, et en outre contiendra assurance qu'il n'y a pas eu réconciliation, collusion ni connivence. Les allégations de la pétition seront appuyées de la déclaration du pétitionnaire faite en vertu de "l'Acte de la preuve en Canada, 1893."

AVIS DIVERS.

BANQUE DES TOWNSHIPS DE L'EST.

AVIS est donné par le présent que la Banque des Townships de l'Est se propose, après que le présent avis aura été publié quatre fois dans la Gazette du Canada et dans la Gazette de Sherbrooke, journal publié dans la cité de Sherbrooke, de s'adresser au Conseil du Trésor afin d'obtenir un certificat approuvant le règlement suivant de la banque :—

Règlement No.

Attendu que le capital-actions de la Banque des Townships de l'Est est aujourd'hui de deux millions de piastres ($2,000,000), et qu'il est à propos de l'augmenter ;

Attendu qu'un règlement a été passé ce jour autorisant les directeurs à s'adresser au parlement du Canada afin d'obtenir un acte redivisant le capital-actions de la banque en parts de cent piastres ($100) chacune;

A ces causes il est décrété par règlement des actionnaires de la dite banque, réunis en assemblée générale spéciale convoquée à cette fin, au bureau principal de la banque dans la cité de Sherbrooke, dans la province de Québec, ce dixième jour de février A.D. 1903, comme suit :—

1° Que le capital-actions de la Banque des Townships de l'Est soit et il est par le présent augmenté de la somme de un million de piastres ($1,000,000) qui sera divisé en parts de cinquante piastres ($50) chacune, sujet au droit de rediviser les parts à l'entrée en vigueur de l'acte ci-dessus mentionné.

2° Le dit capital augmenté sera, lorsque les directeurs le détermineront, et de temps à autre s'ils le jugent bon, réparti aux actionnaires d'alors de la banque au prorata, et au taux qui sera fixé par les directeurs, mais il ne sera pas réparti de fraction d'action ; pourvu que les directeurs ne fixeront dans aucun cas un taux qui rendrait la prime (s'il y en a) payée ou payable sur ces actions ainsi réparties, plus élevée que la proportion du fonds de réserve de la banque par rapport à son capital alors payé.

3° Toutes actions réparties de temps à autre qui ne sont pas prises par l'actionnaire auquel cette répartition a été faite sous six mois à compter de la date où l'avis de cette répartition est mise à la poste à son adresse, ou qu'un actionnaire refuse d'accepter, et toutes actions qui ne seront pas réparties à cause de la disposition qui précède touchant la répartition de fractions d'une action, pourront être offertes au public pour souscription, au temps, en la manière, et aux conditions que les directeurs prescriront.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT RAILWAYS.

GENERAL CONDITIONS of Carriage for "goods" which shall mean and include property of every kind that may be carried.

1. Canadian Government Railways (hereinafter called the "Railway") will not be responsible in respect of any goods carried or intended to be carried on the Railway, unless they are receipted for by a duly authorized Agent.

2. Or for or in respect of the loss of or damage to money, in cash or bills, promissory notes, bills of exchange or securities, jewelry, trinkets, rings, precious stones, gold or silver manufactured or unmanufactured in any form whatsoever; or plated articles of any description; clocks, watches, time-pieces, marble in any form or state; statuary, lace, furs, silk in a manufactured or unmanufactured state, whether wrought up or not wrought up with any other materials; writings of all kinds, title deeds, prints, paintings, maps, engravings, pictures, or other valuables; or any damage to crockery, stoneware, china, glass, wearing apparel, musical instruments, furniture, toys, castings of any kind, cast iron works, stoves, stove furniture, or any hasardous or brittle article, in package or otherwise, or fresh fish, fresh meat, dressed hogs and poultry, or any other perishable articles, or any engine, boiler, cylinder, or machinery of any kind; and if any property of the kinds mentioned in this clause be accepted or carried, it is entirely at the risk of the owner, without liability direct or indirect on the part of the Railway in regard to it. Every vehicle, except when securely and tightly boxed, will be carried solely at the owner's risk of damage from wet, fire, weather and all other contingencies.

3. The Railway shall not be liable for damages occasioned by delays caused by storms, accidents, overpressure of freight, or unavoidable causes, or by the weather or wet, fire, heat, frost, or delay of perishable articles, or from civil commotion.

4. The Railway shall not in any case, or under any circumstances, be liable for loss of market or for claims arising from delay or detention of any train in the course of its journey, or at any of the stations on the way, or in starting, and the Railway does not undertake to load or send goods upon or by any particular train, if there be an insufficient number of cars at any station, or if the cars cannot be conveniently used for the purpose, or if, from any cause, cars loaded at a station are unable to be sent on by the trains passing or starting from such station.

5. Or for loss of, or damages to, any package, or its contents, insufficiently or improperly packed, marked, or directed, or containing articles liable to breakage, or for loss of, or damage to any case of boots or shoes, or any case containing articles liable to peculation or fraudulent abstraction, unless such case or package is strapped with iron or wood, or otherwise securely protected; or leakage of any kind or loss of liquids arising from any cause whatever, or for loss of, or damage done to, goods put into return wrappers or boxes or packages described as empties; or for any goods left until called for or to order, or warehoused for the convenience of the parties to whom they belong, or by or to whom they are consigned. Oil, or molasses or liquids or demijohns, if carried, will be entirely at the risk of the owners or parties by whom, or to whom, they are consigned without any liability whatever on the part of the Railway in respect thereof. In the case of goods in quantities less than car-loads, shippers are required to show on each package, in full, the name of the place for which it is destined. When packages not marked in accordance with this requirement are accepted and shipped by the Railway, it will not be responsible for any loss caused by delay in delivering.

6. The Railway shall not be responsible for any deficiency in weight or measure of grain, or other farm or garden product, or feed in packages, or in bulk, or for injury thereto by heating, or for loss or for deficiency in the weight, number or measure of lumber, coal or iron of any kind, carried by the carload; or for shrinkage of any kind of sugar, or short weight of the same, unless the damage to the package of sugar be shown to have happened whilst in the possession of the Railway.

7. Every sender of any dangerous article will be held accountable for any damage arising therefrom, unless the package containing such article be described as dangerous upon the said package and upon the shipping bill, and in no case will the Railway be liable for the loss of, or damage to, any such article. And the Railway will only undertake the carriage of aquafortis, vitriol, friction matches, gunpowder, or other explosive or dangerous articles on special terms to be superadded to these conditions.

8. All goods transported by the Railway from whomsoever received, or to whomsoever belonging, shall be subject to a general lien for the carriage of, and for all charges against, these particular goods, and also for any general balance that may be due by the owner of such goods to the Railway, or to the carrier in whose possession the same may be. And, if, in six weeks after notice shall have been given that such goods are detained for any such claim, the money due be not paid, the goods may at the discretion of the Railway, or of such carrier in possession, be sold by auction, or by private sale, to defray said claims and all freight and charges including the costs of sale incurred thereon. But fish, fruit, meat, dressed hogs, poultry and all other perishable articles, may be disposed of for a like purpose, at the discretion of the Railway, or carrier in possession, immediately after giving the above notice, if said claim is not paid at once.

9. The Railway shall not be responsible for the carriage or delivery or safety of any goods while on lines, either by land or water, not the Railway's line ; and where a through rate is named to any point other than a station on the Railway's line, the Railway shall be deemed to be acting only as agent of the owner of the goods as to that portion of the said rate required to meet the charges of other carriers beyond the Railway's line. If any goods be consigned, whether on a through rate or otherwise, to a place which the Railway's line does not reach, then, unless some connecting carrier be named on the shipping bill, the goods may be handed over by the Railway to such carrier and at such place on the Railway's line, as the Railway may select ; if one be so named, the Railway will hand over such goods to the one so named ; but in either case the Railway in so handing over the goods shall be deemed to be acting only as the agent of the owner ; and the responsibility of the Railway in respect of any loss, misdelivery, detention, damage or injury by any means whatsoever, to any goods so carried, shall cease as soon as the Railway shall either deliver them to the next connecting carrier for further conveyance, or notify such carrier that it is ready to do so, or, in the event of want of opportunity to forward them, then so soon as the car containing them shall have been detached from its train at the place of the Railway's line whence they are to be so forwarded. And all goods, whether contracted for at a through rate or otherwise, to or from places beyond the Railway's line, shipped by water, shall, while not on the Railway's line, or in its sheds or warehouses, be entirely at the owner's risk.

10. No agent or other employee of the Railway is authorized to take charge of bank notes, money, or valuable papers.

11. Any officer, employee, or servant of the Railway may refuse to take any package or parcel which he suspects to contain goods of a dangerous nature, or may require the same to be opened to ascertain the fact.

12. All articles directed to be left at any way or flag station or platform, where the Railway has no buildings for the storage of freight, or where there is no resident agent, must be prepaid, and will be at the risk of the owner, whenever they are landed at such station or platform, and all articles brought there for conveyance will also be at the owner's risk, until taken into the cars.

13. In case of any loss or damage to goods for which the Railway or connecting lines or other carriers may be liable, the Railway or line of carrier so liable shall be given the benefit of any insurance affected by or for account of the owner of said goods, and shall be subrogated in such rights before any demand shall be made on them in respect of such loss or damage, and in case of any liability whatsoever the Railway shall only be liable for the invoice value of the property at the point and time of shipment.

14. Storage will be charged on all goods remaining in the Railway's sheds or warehouses over forty-eight hours after arrival.

15. (a) In every case in which goods are to be loaded or unloaded by the consignor or consignee, and it is not done promptly after car or cars have been placed for loading or for unloading, then a car rental, or car-storage charge, will be payable for the delay and such charge shall constitute part of the charges against the goods and be recoverable in all respects as if it were part of the charge for carriage.

(b) In every case in which goods are to be unloaded by the consignee and are not unloaded within forty-eight hours after the car has been placed for unloading, the Railway or the carrier in whose posses ion the goods may be, may at the owner's risk and expense, unload and warehouse or deposit the same at such places as shall suit its convenience, and thereupon the goods shall be subjet to lien for all charges whatsoever, including charges for shunting, if done. Goods unloaded by owner shall not be stored on the Railway's premises without the station agent's permission. Whether unloaded by owner or carrier, the goods stored on the Railway's premises shall be subject to storage charges, and shall be at the sole risk of owner as to damage to them by fire, however caused, and as to every loss or damage whatsoever, and shall be removed from the Railway's premises forthwith upon notice.

A charge of not less than $1.00 per car per day, or fraction thereof, will be made when cars are delayed beyond 48 hours in loading or unloading.

16. The charges of all kinds on all goods carried must be paid before the goods will be delivered, and the Railway is not to be accountable for the correctness of any amounts charged as "back or advance charges" on freight, etc., by other carriers, lines, companies or individuals ; and, when consigned to order, bills of lading must be endorsed and surrendered before delivery.

17. There shall be no claim for damage for loss of, or detention of, or injury or damage to any goods for which the Railway is accountable, unless and until notice in writing, and the particulars of the claim of said loss, damage or detention, are given to the station freight agent, at or nearest to the place of delivery, within thirty-six hours after the goods, in respect of which said claim is made, or such portion of them as are not lost, are delivered.

18. No charges less than 25c. will be made for any single package or consignment.

19. All live stock conveyed over the Railway are to be loaded and discharged by the owner or his agent, and must be fed at his expense while in transit ; and are taken and carried entirely at his risk of loss, injury, damage and all other contingencies, whether in loading, unloading, conveyance or otherwise and under these general terms and conditions. All live stock shall be carried by special contract only, and upon the following additional and special conditions :

(1.) The owner of any animal undertakes all risk of loss, injury, damage and other contingencies in loading. unloading, transportation, conveyance, or otherwise, howsoever, no matter how caused.

(2) The Railway does not undertake to forward any of the animals by any particular train, or at any specified hour ; neither shall it be responsible for the delivery of animals within any certain time or for any particular market.

(3.) When free transportation is given to any person in charge of any animal, or animals, it is on the express condition that the Railway is not responsible for any negligence, default, or misconduct of any kind, on the part of the Railway or its servants, or of any person or persons whomsoever causing or tending to cause the death, injury, or detention of any person or persons so travelling free, and whether such person or persons be so carried free on any regular passenger train, or any other train whatsoever, the person so travelling free takes all risks of every kind no matter how caused.

20. In all cases where not otherwise provided, the delivery of the goods shall be considered complete, and the responsibilities of the Railway shall terminate when the goods are placed in the Railway's sheds or warehouses (if there be convenience for receiving the same) at the final destination, or when the goods shall have arrived at the place to be reached on the said Railway ; the warehousing of all goods will be at the owner's risk and expense ; and if the Railway is unable to store or warehouse goods received by it, then it may place such goods in any warehouse that may be available, at the risk and expense of the owner of the property so stored, and all charges for storing, warehousing and conveyance shall form an additional lien on said goods.

21. The Railway's obligation to carry and deliver lumber, coal, bricks and any other goods carried by the carload shall be fulfilled, and the Railway's responsibility in respect thereof shall cease, upon the car in which they are carried being detached from the train at the station on the Railway's lines to which it is consigned, or at the station which, in the usual course of business, it leaves the Railway's lines.

22. The Railway shall not be responsible for delay or loss or damage to freight, either in consequence of waiting to be taken across a ferry, or while being transported over a ferry.

23. The Railway shall not be responsible for any goods mis-sent, unless they are properly addressed, and consigned to a station on its Railway. Rates, weights, quantities and description of goods entered on Receipts, or Shipping Notes, are not binding on the Railway, and will not be acknowledged. All goods going to or coming from any place out of Canada will be subject to Customs charges, &c.

24. In the transportation and handling of grain of any kind by the Railway, at all places of transhipment, and at all places or points to which the grain is consigned, where the Railway has elevators or warehouses, the grain, at the discretion of the Railway's agent may be deposited in the same bin or compartment with other grain of the same grade in the elevator or warehouse, in which event, the person entitled to claim the grain shipped shall become entitled to claim only the grain of the same kind and grade, but if the grade of the grain be deteriorated from causes for which the Railway is not responsible, the consignee must accept the grain as it is.

25. Wharfage, at the rates named in the Wharfage tariff, will be charged on all goods landed on or passing over the Railway wharves, except in cases where the goods are received or forwarded over the Railway without being taken off the Railway premises, and are not delayed at the instance of the owner, consignor or consignee.

26. Yardage at the rate of 10c. per ton per day will be charged on all lumber or other materials left upon the wharves, or other premises of the Railway. This charge will commence 48 hours after the lumber or other materials have been placed on the Railway premises. This charge will not apply to materials which are in sheds or warehouses, or which are on cars.

27. Cars loaded with lumber will not be allowed to stand over to give owners or consignees choice of positions at the receiving stations, when other berths are unoccupied.

28. Lumber will not be received for transportation at sidings, unless, by previous arrangement, it is shown to the satisfaction of the Traffic Manager that sufficient lumber for a full train load of 12 cars is so placed that it can readily be loaded on the cars with the assistance of an engine. The extra charge for such service will be $3.00 per hour, with a minimum charge of $15 for any part of a day, time to count from the hour the engine is ordered out for such service until it is registered in again, including running to and from the working point, but not including any time during which the engine may be laid up for the night. In the event of the engine and crew being sent, after the work of loading is completed, to some point other than the point from which originally ordered for such special service, time shall count until the engine and crew are registered in at such other point, but not longer than would have been occupied in returning the engine and crew to such original starting point.

29. To avoid errors in way-billing loaded cars at sidings, owners may fasten a ticket upon the side of the car, stating to whom the load belongs, and to whom and where it is consigned.

30. When goods are required to be loaded by the owner or his agent, or at his expense, all fittings (such as stakes, bunks, skids, chains, ropes, etc., for lumber, and side boards for sand, bricks, clay, stone, manganese, or articles of a similar character), must be provided by him, or will be charged to him, if furnished by the Railway. Such fittings will be transported back free, if necessary, but at the owner's risk.

31. When cars, liable to be laden, or unladen, by the owner or consignee of the goods, have been once placed, and for the convenience of the owner, or at his request, are shifted to another berth in the same station yard, a charge of $1.00 per car will be made for such service.

32. All the provisions of these conditions shall apply to and for the benefit of every carrier to whom goods may be subsequently delivered for carriage en route to their destination.

33. Nothing herein shall be deemed to curtail or diminish any powers conferred on the Railway by "The Government Railways Act."

34. All regulations previously enacted for the conveyance of live stock, goods and merchandize over the Railway, inconsistent with the foregoing, are hereby cancelled. 34–2

Davis, second officer of the steamer "Lord Charlemont," reports that at noon, 14th December, 1902, in latitude 43° 22′ N., longitude 58° 22′ W., on taking a cast of the lead he was surprised to find a depth of 48 fathoms ; a few minutes afterward, the ship going due south in the meantime, got a cast in 38 fathoms. The ship was then put on a N. 67° E. course and 40 minutes afterward took two more casts, which gave 47 and 51 fathoms, respectively. After that, got no bottom at 100 fathoms. The ship's position, as determined above, was a good one, and was confirmed at 6 p.m. the same day by observation.

The bottom was coarse yellow sand, with red specks.

(15) South coast—Green bank—Non-existence of shoal.

With reference to the shoal of 5 fathoms, reported to exist by the Norwegian vessel Anna Delius in 1881, in Lat. 45° 45′ N., Long. 54° 20′ W.

Information has been received from Staff Captain W. Tooker, R.N., H.M. surveying vessel Gulnare, that he searched for this shoal in June, 1902, over an area extending 10 miles north and south, and 12 miles east and west, without discovering any sign of its existence, nor could any confirmation of its existence be obtained from the bank fishermen engaged in fishing in the locality.

As it is considered that a shoal of 5 fathoms, described as consisting of mud, in such a locality must extend over a considerable area, and as no other report respecting it has been made, its existence is considered very problematical, and it has consequently been expunged from the charts.

Lat. N. 45° 37′ 39″

It is a wooden tower, square in plan, with sloping sides, surmounted by a square wooden lantern, the whole painted white, and 31 feet high from its base to the vane on the lantern.

The light will be shown for the first time from the new building on the opening of navigation in 1903. It will be a fixed white light, elevated 91 feet above high water mark, and should be visible six miles from all points of approach by water. The illuminating apparatus is dioptric of the seventh order.

A hand fog horn at the lighthouse will be blown in answer to fog signals of vessels approaching the breakwater.

When the above described light and fog alarm are put in operation, the temporary red light now shown from a mast erected on the outer end of the breakwater will be permanently discontinued, and the fog horn will no longer be operated from the breakwater.

Greffier du Conseil privé.

CHEMINS DE FER DE L'ÉTAT EN CANADA.

Conditions générales du transport des " marchandises " ou " articles ", termes qui signifient et comprennent la propriété de toutes sortes qui peut être transportée.

1. Les chemins de fer de l'Etat en Canada (ci-après appelés le " chemin de fer ") ne seront pas responsables au sujet des marchandises transportées sur le chemin de fer, à moins qu'un agent dûment autorisé n'en ait donné récépissé.

2. Il ne sera pas non plus responsable de la perte ou dommage d'argent en monnaie ou en billets, billets à ordre, lettres de change, valeurs pécuniaires, bijouteries, breloques, anneaux, pierres précieuses, or ou argent, ouvré ou non ouvré, vaisselle d'or ou argent ou articles en plaqué de toutes sortes ; pendules, montres, régulateurs, marbres sous une forme quelconque ; statuaire, dentelles, fourrures, soie tissée ou non tissée, et mêlée ou non à d'autres matières ; écrits de toutes sortes, titres, imprimés, cartes géographiques, tableaux, gravures ou autres articles de valeur ; ni des avaries éprouvées par de la poterie, de la faïencerie, des porcelaines, de la verrerie, des vêtements, instruments de musique, meubles, jouets, fontes de toutes sortes, poêle, articles en fonte, ou tout autre article fragile ou dont le transport est hasardeux, qu'ils soient en colis ou autrement, ou du poisson frais, viande fraîche, porcs et volaille habillés, ou tous articles périssables, ou toute machine, chaudière, cylindre, ou machinerie de toute sorte ; et si aucune propriété de la nature mentionnée dans la présente clause est acceptée ou transportée, elle est entièrement au risque du propriétaire, sans responsabilité directe ou indirecte de la part du chemin de fer à leur égard. Chaque voiture, sauf lorsqu'elle est bien et solidement encaissée, sera transportée uniquement au risque du propriétaire quant aux avaries par l'eau, le feu, la température et autres accidents.

3. Le chemin de fer ne sera pas responsable des dommages provenant de retards causés par des tempêtes ou accidents, surcharge de cargaison, ou causes inévitables, ni des dommages causés par la température, par l'eau, par le feu, la chaleur ou le froid, ni des dommages que ces retards pourront faire éprouver aux articles périssables, ni de ceux pouvant résulter de troubles civils.

4. Le chemin de fer ne sera pas non plus, en aucun cas, responsable de ce que le marché aura pu être manqué, ni d'aucun autre dommage résultant du retard d'aucun train, soit au départ ou à aucune des stations, ou dans le cours du trajet, ou en partant, et le chemin de fer ne s'engage pas à envoyer des articles par aucun train en particulier, s'il y a à la station un nombre insuffisant de wagons, ou si les wagons ne peuvent convenablement être employés à ce service, ou si, pour quelque cause, les wagons chargés à une station ne peuvent être expédiés par les trains passant par la station ou partant de cette station.

5. Il ne sera pas non plus responsable de la perte ou du dommage d'aucun colis insuffisamment ou mal marqué, empaqueté, adressé ou décrit, ou contenant des articles susceptibles de se briser ni de la perte ou dommage d'aucune caisse de chaussures, ou d'aucune caisse contenant des articles exposés au péculat ou à la soustraction frauduleuse à moins que la caisse ou colis ne soit ceinturé de fer ou de bois, ou autrement solidement protégé ; ni du coulage de toutes sortes, ni de la perte de liquides provenant d'une cause quelconque, ni de perte ou dommage d'effets mis dans des envelopes ou boîtes ou colis de retour vides ; ni des effets qu'on doit aller réclamer ou livrables à ordre, ou emmagasinés pour la facilité des propriétaires ou consignataires.

L'huile, ou les mélasses ou liquides ou dames-jeannes, s'ils sont transportés, le seront entièrement au risque des propriétaires ou consignataires sans aucune responsabilité que ce soit de la part du chemin de fer à leur égard. Dans le cas d'articles en quantités moindres qu'un char plein, les expéditeurs sont tenus de montrer sur chaque colis, en toutes lettres, le nom de l'endroit pour lequel les colis est destiné. Lorsque des colis qui ne sont pas ainsi marqués sont acceptés et expédiés par le chemin de fer, ce dernier ne sera pas responsable pour toute perte causée par des retards dans la livraisou.

7. Les expéditeurs d'articles dangereux seront tenus responsables de tout dommage qui pourra résulter, à moins que leur nature ne soit distinctement désignée sur l'extérieur du colis, et sur la feuille d'envoi ; et en aucun cas le chemin de fer ne sera responsable de la perte de ces articles, ou des avaries qu'ils pourraient subir. Le chemin de fer ne se chargera pas du transport de l'eau-forte ou vitriol, allumettes chimiques, poudre à canon, ou autres articles dangereux, sauf à sa convenance et par arrangement spécial.

8. Tous les effets voiturés par le chemin de fer, quel qu'en soit le consignataire ou le propriétaire, seront assujétis à un gage pour leur transport et pour tous les frais encourus pour ces articles en particulier, et aussi pour toute la balance générale qui pourra être due par le propriétaire de ces articles au chemin de fer, ou au voiturier en la possession duquel ils se trouvent. Et si, après qu'un avis de six semaines aura été donné à l'effet que ces articles sont détenus pour toute telle réclamation, le montant dû n'est pas payé, les articles pourront, à la discrétion du chemin de fer ou de ce voiturier en possession, être vendus à l'enchère, ou par vente privée, pour défrayer les dites réclamations et le fret et charges y compris les frais de vente encourus. Mais le poisson, les fruits, la viande, les porcs habillés, la volaille et tous autres articles périssables, pourront être vendus de la même manière, à la discrétion du chemin de fer ou voiturier en possession, immédiatement après avoir donné l'avis susdit, si la dite réclamation n'est pas payée tout de suite.

9. Le chemin de fer ne sera pas responsable du voiturage ou livraison ou sûreté des articles et marchandises sur des lignes, soit par terre ou par eau, qui ne sont pas la ligne du chemin de fer ; et si un tarif de complet parcours est nommé jusqu'à un point autre qu'une station de la ligne du chemin de fer, le chemin de fer sera censé n'agir qu'en qualité d'agent du propriétaire des articles par rapport à cette partie du dit tarif requise pour parfaire les prix d'autres voituriers au delà de la ligne du chemin de fer. Si des effets sont consignés, soit pour entier parcours ou non, à un endroit que la ligne du chemin de fer n'atteint pas, alors, à moins que quelque voiturier correspondant ne soit nommé sur l'envoi, les articles seront délivrés par le chemin de fer à tel voiturier et à tel endroit sur la ligne du chemin de fer que le chemin de fer choisira ; si un voiturier correspondant est nommé, le chemin de fer transférera ces articles au voiturier ainsi nommé ; mais dans l'un ou l'autre cas le chemin de fer en transférant ainsi les articles sera censé n'agir qu'en qualité d'agent du propriétaire et la responsabilité du chemin de fer au sujet de toute perte, manquement, détention, dommage ou avarie que ce soit à des articles ainsi voiturés cessera aussitôt que le chemin de fer les aura soit livrés au prochain voiturier correspondant pour transport ultérieur, soit notifié ce voiturier qu'il est prêt à le faire, ou, dans le cas où il n'aurait pas d'occasion de les voiturer plus loin, alors aussitôt que le wagon qui les contient aura été détaché de son train à l'endroit de la ligne du chemin de fer d'où ils doivent être expédiés. Et tous effets, dont le voiturage est entrepris à un taux de complet parcours ou autrement, d'endroits au delà la ligne du chemin de fer, expédiés par eau, seront, tant qu'ils ne seront pas sur la ligne du chemin de fer ou dans ses appentis ou entrepôts, entièrement au risque du propriétaire.

10. Nul agent ou autre employé du chemin de fer n'est autorisé à se charger de billets de banque, d'argent ou de papiers de valeur.

11. Tout officier, employé ou serviteur du chemin de fer pourra refuser de prendre un paquet ou colis qu'il soupçonnera contenir des matières dangereuses, et pourra faire ouvrir le colis pour s'assurer du fait.

12. Le transport de tous les articles devant être laissés aux stations intermédiaires ou plateformes où il n'y a pas encore de gares d'établies, ou là où il n'y a pas d'agent de domicilié, devra être payé d'avance, et ces articles seront aux risques du propriétaire du moment qu'ils seront débarqués à telles stations ou sur telles plateformes ; et tous les articles qui y seront apportés pour le transport seront aussi aux risques du propriétaire jusqu'à ce qu'ils soient sur les wagons du chemin de fer.

13. S'il arrive quelque perte ou avarie aux articles pour lesquels le chemin de fer ou voituriers correspondants sont responsables, le chemin de fer ou voituriers ainsi responsables recevront le bénéfice de toute assurance effectuée par ou au compte du propriétaire des dits articles et sera subrogé dans ces droits avant que toute demande soit faite au sujet de cette perte ou avarie, et dans le cas de toute responsabilité que ce soit, le chemin de fer ne sera responsable que pour la valeur facturée de la propriété au point et au temps de l'expédition.

14. Les articles qui resteront aux stations plus de 48 heures après leur arrivée paieront pour l'emmagasinage au taux du tarif d'emmagasinage.

15. (a) Chaque fois que des articles doivent être chargés ou déchargés par le consignateur ou le consignataire, et que la chose n'est pas faite promptement après que le wagon ou les wagons ont été placés pour chargement, alors un loyer de wagon sera payable pour le délai, et ce loyer formera partie des frais contre les articles et sera recouvrable sous tous rapports comme s'ils formaient partie des frais de transport.

(b) Chaque fois que des articles doivent être déchargés par le consignataire et ne sont pas déchargés dans les quarante-huit heures après que le wagon a été placé pour déchargement, le chemin de fer ou le voiturier en la possession duquel se trouvent les articles, pourra, aux risques et frais du propriétaire, décharger et emmagasiner ou déposer ces articles aux endroits qui leur conviendront, et là-dessus les articles seront assujétis à un gage pour tous frais que ce soit, y compris les frais de garage, s'il y en a. Les articles déchargés par le propriétaire ne seront pas emmagasinés sur la propriété du chemin de fer sans la permission du chef de gare. Qu'ils soient déchargés par le propriétaire ou par le voiturier, les articles emmagasinés sur la propriété du chemin de fer seront soumis aux frais d'emmagasinage, et seront au seul risque du propriétaire quant aux avaries par le feu, quelle que soit la cause, et quant à toute perte ou dommage que ce soit, et seront enlevés de la propriété du chemin de fer immédiatement après avis donné à cet effet.

Il sera exigé au moins $1 par wagon par jour, ou partie de jour, lorsque les wagons sont plus que 48 heures à être chargés ou déchargés.

16. Nul article ne sera livré tant que les frais de transport ne seront pas payés, et le chemin de fer ne sera pas responsable de l'exactitude des frais antérieurs ou postérieurs (back or advance charges) sur des articles, etc., transportés par d'autres voies ferrées, compagnies, diligence ou particuliers, et lorsqu'ils seront consignés à ordre, des connaissements devront être endossés et remis avant livraison.

17. Nulle réclamation pour perte ou dommage (dont le chemin de fer pourra autrement être responsable) ne sera admise, à moins qu'un avis écrit, et les détails de la dite perte, dommage ou détention ne soient donnés à l'agent de la station, à ou le plus près de l'endroit de destination, sous trente-six heures après que les articles qui font le sujet de la réclamation, ou telle partie d'iceux qui n'est pas perdue, auront été livrés.

18. Il ne sera pas exigé moins de vingt-cinq centins pour le transport d'un seul colis ou consignation.

19. Tout le bétail transporté sur le chemin de fer devra être chargé et déchargé par le propriétaire ou son agent, et doit être nourri à ses frais pendant le trajet ; et sera pris et transporté entièrement à ses risques de perte, blessure, dommage et tous autres accidents, soit pendant le chargement, déchargement, transport ou autrement, et aux présents termes et conditions générales. Tout bétail sera transporté par contrat spécial seulement, et aux conditions additionnelles et spéciales qui suivent :—

(1) Le propriétaire de tout animal entreprend et assume tout risque de perte, blessure, dommage et autres accidents dans le chargement, déchargement, transport, voiturage, ou autrement, quelle que soit la cause.

(2) Le chemin de fer n'entreprend pas d'expédier aucun animal par un train particulier, ou à une heure spécifique ; il ne sera pas responsable non plus de la livraison des animaux dans un certain temps ou pour un certain marché.

(3) Lorsque le passage gratuit est donné à une personne en charge d'un animal, ou d'animaux, c'est à la condition expresse que le chemin de fer n'est pas responsable d'aucune négligence, défaut, ou inconduite de toutes sortes de la part du chemin de fer ou de ses employés, ou de toute personne ou personnes que ce soit causant ou portant à causer la mort, blessure ou détention de toute personne ou personnes voyageant ainsi gratuitement, et que cette personne ou ces personnes soient ainsi transportées gratuitement sur un train régulier de passagers ou sur tout autre train que ce soit, la personne voyageant ainsi gratuitement prend tous les risques que ce soit.

21. L'obligation du chemin de fer de voiturer et délivrer du bois de service, de la houille, de la brique et tous autres articles transportés par charge de wagon sera remplie, et la responsabilité du chemin de fer à leur égard cessera, lorsque le wagon qui les contient est détaché du train à la station sur la ligne du chemin de fer à laquelle ils sont consignés, ou à la station où dans le cours ordinaire des affaires il quitte les lignes du chemin de fer.

22. Le chemin de fer ne sera pas responsable des retards, pertes ou avaries aux marchandises causés en traversant un passage d'eau, ou en étant transportés sur un bateau-passeur.

23. Le chemin de fer ne sera pas responsable des articles mal dirigés à moins qu'ils soient bien adressés, et consignées à une station sur son chemin de fer. Les taux, poids, quantité et description des articles inscrits sur les récépissés, feuilles d'envoi, ne sont pas obligatoires pour le chemin de fer, et ne seront pas reconnus. Tous les articles allant ou venant de quelque endroit en dehors du Canada seront assujétis aux droits de douane, etc.

25. Des droits de quaiage aux taux mentionnés dans le tarif de quaiage seront exigés pour tous les articles débarqués ou passant sur les quais du chemin de fer, excepté dans les cas où ces articles doivent être expédiés par le chemin de fer et ne sont pas retardés à l'instance du propriétaire, de l'expéditeur ou du consignataire.

26. Des frais de remisage au taux de 10 centins par tonneau par jour seront imposés sur tout bois de service ou autres matériaux laissés sur les quais ou autre propriété du chemin de fer. Cet impôt commencera à courir 48 heures après que le bois de service ou autres matériaux ont été placés sur les terrains du chemin de fer. Cet impôt ne s'appliquera pas aux matériaux qui sont dans des hangars ou entrepôts ou qui sont dans ou sur les wagons.

qu'une quantité suffisante pour charger un train de douze wagons sera placée de manière que son chargement puisse se faire à l'aide d'une locomotive. Les frais supplémentaires exigés pour ce service seront de $3 par heure, avec une taxe minimum de $15 pour toute fraction d'une journée, à compter de l'heure où la locomotive a été désignée pour ce service jusqu'à ce qu'elle s'en revienne, y compris le va-et-vient au lieu de chargement ; mais ne comprenant pas le temps où la locomotive sera remisée pour la nuit. Dans le cas où la locomotive et l'équipe seraient envoyées, après que le travail de chargement est fini, à quelque point autre que celui pour lequel elles étaient d'abord envoyées pour ce service spécial, le temps comptera jusqu'à ce que la locomotive et l'équipe soient enregistrées à tel autre point, mais pas plus longtemps que ce qui aurait été occupé à ramener la locomotive et l'équipe au premier point de départ.

29. Pour éviter les erreurs à l'égard du connaissement des wagons chargés aux voies d'évitement, les propriétaires devront mettre une étiquette, sur le côté du wagon, qui indiquera à qui appartient le chargement, sa destination, et à qui il est consigné.

30. Quand il sera exigé que des articles soient chargés par le propriétaire ou son agent, ou à ses frais, tous les accessoires (tels que supports, bâtons, sommiers, chaînes, amarres, etc., pour le bois de service, et cloisons pour la houille, le sable, la brique, l'argile, la pierre, le manganèse ou autres articles analogues), devront être fournis par lui, ou seront portés à son compte s'ils sont fournis par le chemin de fer. Ces accessoires seront rapportés gratuitement si c'est nécessaire, mais aux risques du propriétaire.

31. Lorsque des wagons qui doivent être chargés ou déchargés par le propriétaire ou consignataire des articles ont été placés à cette fin, et que pour la commodité du propriétaire ou qu'à sa demande ils sont changés de place à la même station pour terminer leur chargement ou déchargement, une piastre par wagon sera exigée pour ce service.

32. Toutes les dispositions des présentes conditions s'appliqueront à chaque voiturier auquel les effets auront été subséquemment délivrés pour transport en route à leur destination.

33. Rien de contenu aux présentes ne sera censé diminuer aucun des pouvoirs conférés au chemin de fer par l'Acte des chemins de fer de l'Etat.

L'ouverture de l'Exposition Royale Internationale d'Athènes a été fixée pour le 25 de mars, savoir, le 7 d'avril 1903.

Cette Exposition sera certainement visitée par des milliers de gens appartenant au monde commercial et scientifique de l'Europe Orientale, Athènes étant le centre du mouvement progressif de l'industrie et du commerce du Levant, et par son Université le foyer de l'élément grec.

Possédant une situation et un climat les plus beaux d'Europe, Athènes, la plus ancienne ville du monde est spécialement adaptée à une Exposition Internationale en Orient, et ne manquera pas d'attirer tous ces manufacturiers de l'Occident qui sont anxieux d'ouvrir de nouveaux marchés pour leurs produits, et un vaste champ dans l'avenir pour des entreprises commerciales.

Beaucoup de contrées orientales contiennent des ressources cachées, mais nulle plus que la Grèce où, ensevelis sous le sol reposent des trésors qui n'attendent que la charrue et le marteau pour produire des richesses inconnues.

La nation grecque en faisant de grands efforts dans la voie du progrès a acclamé avec enthousiasme l'annonce de cette Exposition, qu'on peut dire être un cri d'appel adressé à l'industrie occidentale par le peuple grec.

A part la grande attraction de ses antiquités sans rivales dans aucune autre cité, qui tous les ans attirent au delà de cinquante mille étrangers à la capitale grecque, les visiteurs à Athènes trouveront spécialement organisés des jeux olympiens, des courses, des pièces de théâtre et des concerts, tenus sous le beau ciel de l'Attique.

Avec ces avantages en vue, nous croyons qu'un grand nombre se hâteront de participer à cette Exposition, et en ce faisant retireront non seulement un présent avantage, mais un très grand bienfait dans un avenir rapproché.

DEMANDES AU PARLEMENT.

Règles in re Avis de bills privés.

Dans le cas de toute demande de bills privés, proprement du ressort législatif du Parlement du Canada suivant les dispositions de l'Acte de l'Amérique Britannique du Nord, 1867, ayant pour objet la concession à une ou plusieurs personnes de certains droits ou privilèges exclusifs ou particuliers, ou le pouvoir de faire quelque chose qui, dans ses effets, pourrait toucher aux droits ou à la propriété d'autrui, ou concerner une classe particulière de la société ; ou ayant pour objet quelque amendement à un acte antérieur,—un avis, énonçant d'une manière claire et intelligible la nature et l'objet de la demande (sauf s'il s'agit de corporations déjà existantes) par les pétitionnaires ou de leur part, est nécessaire et doit être publié comme il suit :—

Dans les provinces de Québec et du Manitoba.

Dans la Gazette du Canada en anglais et en français, ainsi que dans un journal anglais et un journal français, du district intéressé, ou en anglais et en français dans le même journal, s'il ne s'en publie qu'un seul dans ce district ; ou s'il n'y paraît pas de journal, alors la publication de l'avis en anglais et en français doit se faire dans un journal du district le plus voisin où il s'en publie.

Dans les autres provinces ou territoires.

Dans la Gazette du Canada, et dans un journal du comté, du district ou des comtés-unis intéressés, ou s'il n'y paraît pas de journal alors la publication doit se faire dans un journal du comté ou district le plus voisin où il s'en publie. La publication de ces avis durera, dans chaque cas, la période de deux mois au moins pendant l'intervalle de temps qui s'écoulera entre la clôture de la session précédente et la prise en considération de la pétition. Des exemplaires marqués de tous les numéros des journaux reproduisant la première et la dernière insertion de l'avis, devront être transmis au greffier de chaque chambre, et porter à l'enclos " Demande de bill privé."

Si la pétition demande l'autorisation de présenter un bill privé ayant pour objet la construction d'un pont de péage, les pétitionnaires devront aussi, en même temps et de la même manière, donner avis du taux de péages projeté, de l'étendue du privilège, de la hauteur des arches, de l'espace à laisser libre entre les culées ou les piles pour le passage des radeaux et des navires ; et, si c'est un pont mobile, quelles en seront les dimensions.

Toute personne désirant obtenir un bill privé devra, dans les huit jours au moins qui précéderont l'ouverture du parlement, déposer au bureau du greffier de la Chambre dans laquelle le bill doit prendre naissance une copie de ce bill en langue anglaise ou en langue française, avec une somme suffisante pour en payer la traduction et l'impression. Après la seconde lecture et avant la prise en considération du bill par tout comité, le pétitionnaire aura aussi à payer au greffier du Sénat, ou au comptable de la Chambre des Communes (selon le cas) un honoraire de $200, plus une somme suffisante pour défrayer le coût de l'impression de l'acte dans les Statuts, et remettra le reçu de ce paiement au greffier du comité auquel ce bill aura été renvoyé.

L'honoraire de $200 payable sur tout bill privé, ne sera payé que dans la Chambre où ce bill a pris naissance ; mais les frais de réimpression et de traduction nécessités par ce bill seront payés dans la Chambre où ces frais sont encourus.

Aucune pétition pour l'obtention d'un bill privé ne sera reçue par le Sénat ou par la Chambre des Communes, après les premières trois semaines de la session.

Aucun bill privé ne pourra être présenté au Sénat ou à la Chambre des Communes après les premières quatre semaines de la session.

Greffier du Sénat.

THOMAS B. FLINT,
Greffier des Communes.

Règle spéciale du Sénat.

49. (c.) Chaque fois qu'un bill doit opérer dans plus d'une province, territoire ou district, l'avis sera publié dans la Gazette du Canada et dans un journal bien établi publié dans chaque province, territoire ou district où le bill doit opérer.

Ordre permanent.

Lorsqu'un bill confirmant un bail, une convention ou toute autre espèce de contrat, sera reçu ou présenté au Sénat, ce bail, cette convention ou cette autre espèce de contrat sera exposé dans un appendice ou autrement.

SAML. E. ST. O. CHAPLEAU,
Greffier du Sénat.

Règles additionnelles de la Chambre des Communes concernant les bills privés.

Tous les bills privés demandant des actes constitutifs devront être rédigés de manière à y incorporer, en les spécifiant, les clauses des Actes généraux concernant les détails qui font l'objet de ces bills ; des raisons spéciales seront données chaque fois que l'on aura l'intention de se départir de ce principe, ou que l'on voudra y introduire d'autres dispositions touchant ces détails ; et une note sera annexée au bill indiquant les dispositions au sujet desquelles l'on entend s'écarter de l'Acte général ; les bills qui ne seront pas rédigés conformément à cette Règle, devront être remodelés par les auteurs et réimprimés à leurs frais, avant qu'aucun comité en examine les clauses.

51*a*. Tous les bills privés pour chartes ou pour modification de chartes de compagnies de chemins de fer seront rédigés conformément au bill-modèle dont copie peut être obtenue du greffier de la Chambre ;

(a.) Les dispositions contenues dans un bill quelconque qui ne seront pas conformes au bill-modèle, seront insérées entre crochets, et après avoir été revisées par l'officier compétent, elles seront imprimées

ainsi ; et les bills qui ne seront pas rédigés en conformité de cette règle seront renvoyés aux auteurs pour être remodelés avant leur revision et impression ;

(b.) Toutes clauses d'actes existants que l'on proposera de modifier, seront imprimées en entier, avec les amendements insérés en leur lieu et place, et entre crochets ;

(c.) Toutes dispositions exceptionnelles que l'on proposera d'insérer dans un bill quelconque, seront imprimées dans l'avis publié.

51*b*. Nul bill pour la constitution légale d'une compagnie de chemin de fer ou pour changer le tracé du chemin de fer d'une compagnie déjà constituée ne sera pris en considération par le comité des chemins de fer à moins qu'il n'ait été donné au comité, au moins une semaine avant la prise en considération du bill—

(a.) Une carte ou plan à l'échelle de pas moins d'un demi-pouce au mille, indiquant le territoire sur lequel l'on se propose de construire les travaux projetés, ainsi que les lignes de travaux analogues existants ou autorisés dans les limites du district, ou partie du district que la ligne projetée doit desservir, ou affectant le dit district en aucune manière ; cette carte ou plan devra être signé par l'ingénieur ou toute autre personne qui l'aura fait ;

(b.) Un exhibit faisant connaître le montant total du capital que l'on se propose de prélever pour les fins de l'entreprise, et la manière dont on se propose de le prélever, soit au moyen d'actions ordinaires, obligations, débentures ou autres garanties, et le montant respectif de chacune.

THOMAS B. FLINT,
Greffier des Communes.

ORDRE SPÉCIAL DE LA CHAMBRE DES COMMUNES.

Résolu,—Que le greffier de la Chambre adresse une copie de la Règle 49 modifiée aux personnes qui signifient dans la Gazette du Canada leur intention de s'adresser au parlement pour la passation d'un bill privé, ainsi qu'un avis portant que la dite Règle sera strictement appliquée à l'avenir :—

49. Les pétitions pour bills privés ne seront reçues par la Chambre que pendant les trois premières semaines de la session, et les bills privés ne pourront être présentés à la Chambre que pendant les quatre premières semaines de la session ; et tout comité auquel aura été renvoyé un bill privé devra le prendre en considération et en faire rapport à la Chambre avec toute la diligence convenable.

2. Qu'il soit enjoint à tous les comités sur bills privés, dans le cas où les promoteurs ne seraient point prêts à procéder avec leurs mesures quand celles-ci auront été appelées deux fois en deux occasions différentes devant le comité pour y être considérées, de rapporter ces mesures à la Chambre sans délai, faisant connaître les faits, et avec la recommandation que ces bills soient retirés."

THOMAS B. FLINT,
Greffier des Communes.

AVIS est donné par le présent que la Banque des Townships de l'Est se propose, après que le présent avis aura été publié quatre fois dans la Gazette du Canada et dans la Gazette de Sherbrooke, journal publié dans la cité de Sherbrooke, de s'adresser au Conseil du Trésor afin d'obtenir un certificat approuvant le règlement suivant de la banque:—

Règlement No.

Attendu que le capital-actions de la Banque des Townships de l'Est est aujourd'hui de deux millions de piastres ($2,000,000), et qu'il est à propos de l'augmenter;

Attendu qu'un règlement a été passé ce jour autorisant les directeurs à s'adresser au parlement du Canada afin d'obtenir un acte redivisant le capital-actions de la banque en parts de cent piastres ($100) chacune;

A ces causes il est décrété par règlement des actionnaires de la dite banque, réunis en assemblée générale

spéciale convoquée à cette fin, au bureau principal de la banque dans la cité de Sherbrooke, dans la province de Québec, ce dixième jour de février A.D. 1903, comme suit :—

1° Que le capital-actions de la Banque des Townships de l'Est soit et il est par le présent augmenté de la somme de un million de piastres ($1,000,000) qui sera divisé en parts de cinquante piastres ($50) chacune, sujet-au droit de rediviser les parts à l'entrée en vigueur de l'acte ci-dessus mentionné.

2° Le dit capital augmenté sera, lorsque les directeurs le détermineront, et de temps à autre s'ils le jugent bon, réparti aux actionnaires d'alors de la banque au prorata, et au taux qui sera fixé par les directeurs, mais il ne sera pas réparti de fraction d'action ; pourvu que les directeurs ne fixeront dans aucun cas un taux qui rendrait la prime (s'il y en a) payée ou payable sur ces actions ainsi réparties, plus élevée que la proportion du fonds de réserve de la banque par rapport à son capital alors payé.

3° Toutes actions réparties de temps à autre qui ne sont pas prises par l'actionnaire auquel cette répartition a été faite sous six mois à compter de la date où l'avis de cette répartition est mise à la poste à son adresse, ou qu'un actionnaire refuse d'accepter, et toutes actions qui ne seront pas réparties à cause de la disposition qui précède touchant la répartition de fractions d'une action, pourront être offertes au public pour souscription, au temps, en la manière, et aux conditions que les directeurs prescriront.

CANADIAN GOVERNMENT RAILWAYS.

GENERAL CONDITIONS of Carriage for "goods" which shall mean and include property of every kind that may be carried.

1. Canadian Government Railways (hereinafter called the "Railway") will not be responsible in respect of any goods carried or intended to be carried on the Railway, unless they are receipted for by a duly authorized Agent.

2. Or for or in respect of the loss of or damage to money, in cash or bills, promissory notes, bills of exchange or securities, jewelry, trinkets, rings, precious stones, gold or silver manufactured or unmanufactured in any form whatsoever; or plated articles of any description; clocks, watches, time-pieces, marble in any form or state; statuary, lace, furs, silk in a manufactured or unmanufactured state, whether wrought up or not wrought up with any other materials; writings of all kinds, title deeds, prints, paintings, maps, engravings, pictures, or other valuables; or any damage to crockery, stoneware, china, glass, wearing apparel, musical instruments, furniture, toys, castings of any kind, cast iron works, stoves, stove furniture, or any hasardous or brittle article, in package or otherwise, or fresh fish, fresh meat, dressed hogs and poultry, or any other perishable articles, or any engine, boiler, cylinder, or machinery of any kind; and if any property of the kinds mentioned in this clause be accepted or carried, it is entirely at the risk of the owner, without liability direct or indirect on the part of the Railway in regard to it. Every vehicle, except when securely and tightly boxed, will be carried solely at the owner's risk of damage from wet, fire, weather and all other contingencies.

3. The Railway shall not be liable for damages occasioned by delays caused by storms, accidents, overpressure of freight, or unavoidable causes, or by the weather or wet, fire, heat, frost, or delay of perishable articles, or from civil commotion.

4. The Railway shall not in any case, or under any circumstances, be liable for loss of market or for claims arising from delay or detention of any train in the course of its journey, or at any of the stations on the way, or in starting, and the Railway does not undertake to load or send goods upon or by any particular train, if there be an insufficient number of cars at any station, or if the cars cannot be conveniently used for the purpose, or if, from any cause, cars loaded at a station are unable to be sent on by the trains passing or starting from such station.

5. Or for loss of, or damages to, any package, or its contents, insufficiently or improperly packed, marked, or directed, or containing articles liable to breakage, or for loss of, or damage to any case of boots or shoes, or any case containing articles liable to peculation or fraudulent abstraction, unless such case or package is strapped with iron or wood, or otherwise securely protected; or leakage of any kind or loss of liquids arising from any cause whatever, or for loss of, or damage done to, goods put into return wrappers or boxes or packages described as empties; or for any goods left until called for or to order, or warehoused for the convenience of the parties to whom they belong, or by or to whom they are consigned. Oil, or molasses or liquids or demijohns, if carried, will be entirely at the risk of the owners or parties by whom, or to whom, they are consigned without any liability whatever on the part of the Railway in respect thereof. In the case of goods in quantities less than car-loads, shippers are required to show on each package, in full, the name of the place for which it is destined. When packages not marked in accordance with this requirement are accepted and shipped by the Railway, it will not be responsible for any loss caused by delay in delivering.

6. The Railway shall not be responsible for any deficiency in weight or measure of grain, or other farm or garden product, or feed in packages, or in bulk, or for injury thereto by heating, or for loss or for deficiency in the weight, number or measure of lumber, coal or iron of any kind, carried by the carload; or for shrinkage of any kind of sugar, or short weight of the same, unless the damage to the package of sugar be shown to have happened whilst in the possession of the Railway.

7. Every sender of any dangerous article will be held accountable for any damage arising therefrom, unless the package containing such article be described as dangerous upon the said package and upon the shipping bill, and in no case will the Railway be liable for the loss of, or damage to, any such article. And the Railway will only undertake the carriage of aquafortis, vitriol, friction matches, gunpowder, or other explosive or dangerous articles on special terms to be superadded to these conditions.

8. All goods transported by the Railway from whomsoever received, or to whomsoever belonging, shall be subject to a general lien for the carriage of, and for all charges against, these particular goods, and also for any general balance that may be due by the owner of such goods to the Railway, or to the carrier in whose possession the same may be. And, if, in six weeks after notice shall have been given that such goods are detained for any such claim, the money due be not paid, the goods may at the discretion of the Railway, or of such carrier in possession, be sold by auction, or by private sale, to defray said claims and all freight and charges including the costs of sale incurred thereon. But fish, fruit, meat, dressed hogs, poultry and all other perishable articles, may be disposed of for a like purpose, at the discretion of the Railway, or carrier in possession, immediately after giving the above notice, if said claim is not paid at once.

9. The Railway shall not be responsible for the carriage or delivery or safety of any goods while on lines, either by land or water, not the Railway's line; and where a through rate is named to any point other than a station on the Railway's line, the Railway shall be deemed to be acting only as agent of the owner of the goods as to that portion of the said rate required to meet the charges of other carriers beyond the Railway's line. If any goods be consigned, whether on a through rate or otherwise, to a place which the Railway's line does not reach, then, unless some connecting carrier be named on the shipping bill, the goods may be handed over by the Railway to such carrier and at such place on the Railway's line, as the Railway may select; if one be so named, the Railway will hand over such goods to the one so named; but in either case the Railway in so handing over the goods shall be deemed to be acting only as the agent of the owner; and the responsibility of the Railway in respect of any loss, misdelivery, detention, damage or injury by any means whatsoever, to any goods so carried, shall cease as soon as the Railway shall either deliver them to the next connecting carrier for further conveyance, or notify such carrier that it is ready to do so, or, in the event of want of opportunity to forward them, then so soon as the car containing them shall have been detached from its train at the place of the Railway's line whence they are to be so forwarded. And all goods, whether contracted for at a through rate or otherwise, to or from places beyond the Railway's line, shipped by water, shall, while not on the Railway's line, or in its sheds or warehouses, be entirely at the owner's risk.

10. No agent or other employee of the Railway is authorized to take charge of bank notes, money, or valuable papers.

11. Any officer, employee, or servant of the Railway may refuse to take any package or parcel which he suspects to contain goods of a dangerous nature, or may require the same to be opened to ascertain the fact.

12. All articles directed to be left at any way or flag station or platform, where the Railway has no buildings for the storage of freight, or where there is no resident agent, must be prepaid, and will be at the risk of the owner, whenever they are landed at such station or platform, and all articles brought there for conveyance will also be at the owner's risk, until taken into the cars.

13. In case of any loss or damage to goods for which the Railway or connecting lines or other carriers may be liable, the Railway or line of carrier so liable shall be given the benefit of any insurance affected by or for account of the owner of said goods, and shall be subrogated in such rights before any demand shall be made on them in respect of such loss or damage, and in case of any liability whatsoever the Railway shall only be liable for the invoice value of the property at the point and time of shipment.

14. Storage will be charged on all goods remaining in the Railway's sheds or warehouses over forty-eight hours after arrival.

15. (a) In every case in which goods are to be loaded or unloaded by the consignor or consignee, and it is not done promptly after car or cars have been placed for loading or for unloading, then a car rental, or car-storage charge, will be payable for the delay and such charge shall constitute part of the charges against the goods and be recoverable in all respects as if it were part of the charge for carriage.

(b) In every case in which goods are to be unloaded by the consignee and are not unloaded within forty-eight hours after the car has been placed for unloading, the Railway or the carrier in whose possession the goods may be, may at the owner's risk and expense, unload and warehouse or deposit the same at such places as shall suit its convenience, and thereupon the goods shall be subjet to lien for all charges whatsoever, including charges for shunting, if done. Goods unloaded by owner shall not be stored on the Railway's premises without the station agent's permission. Whether unloaded by owner or carrier, the goods stored on the Railway's premises shall be subject to storage charges, and shall be at the sole risk of owner as to damage to them by fire, however caused, and as to every loss or damage whatsoever, and shall be removed from the Railway's premises forthwith upon notice.

A charge of not less than $1.00 per car per day, or fraction thereof, will be made when cars are delayed beyond 48 hours in loading or unloading.

16. The charges of all kinds on all goods carried must be paid before the goods will be delivered, and the Railway is not to be accountable for the correctness of any amounts charged as "back or advance charges" on freight, etc., by other carriers, lines, companies or individuals; and, when consigned to order, bills of lading must be endorsed and surrendered before delivery.

17. There shall be no claim for damage for loss of, or detention of, or injury or damage to any goods for which the Railway is accountable, unless and until notice in writing, and the particulars of the claim of said loss, damage or detention, are given to the station freight agent, at or nearest to the place of delivery, within thirty-six hours after the goods, in respect of which said claim is made, or such portion of them as are not lost, are delivered.

18. No charges less than 25c. will be made for any single package or consignment.

19. All live stock conveyed over the Railway are to be loaded and discharged by the owner or his agent, and must be fed at his expense while in transit; and are taken and carried entirely at his risk of loss, injury, damage and all other contingencies, whether in loading, unloading, conveyance or otherwise and under these general terms and conditions. All live stock shall be carried by special contract only, and upon the following additional and special conditions:

(1.) The owner of any animal undertakes all risk of loss, injury, damage and other contingencies in loading, unloading, transportation, conveyance, or otherwise, howsoever, no matter how caused.

(2.) The Railway does not undertake to forward any of the animals by any particular train, or at any specified hour; neither shall it be responsible for the delivery of animals within any certain time or for any particular market.

(3.) When free transportation is given to any person in charge of any animal, or animals, it is on the express condition that the Railway is not responsible for any negligence, default, or misconduct of any kind, on the part of the Railway or its servants, or of any person or persons whomsoever causing or tending to cause the death, injury, or detention of any person or persons so travelling free, and whether such person or persons be so carried free on any regular passenger train, or any other train whatsoever, the person so travelling free takes all risks of every kind no matter how caused.

20. In all cases where not otherwise provided, the delivery of the goods shall be considered complete, and the responsibilities of the Railway shall terminate when the goods are placed in the Railway's sheds or warehouses (if there be convenience for receiving the same) at the final destination, or when the goods shall have arrived at the place to be reached on the said Railway; the warehousing of all goods will be at the owner's risk and expense; and if the Railway is unable to store or warehouse goods received by it, then it may place such goods in any warehouse that may be available, at the risk and expense of the owner of the property so stored, and all charges for storing, warehousing and conveyance shall form an additional lien on said goods.

21. The Railway's obligation to carry and deliver lumber, coal, bricks and any other goods carried by the carload shall be fulfilled, and the Railway's responsibility in respect thereof shall cease, upon the car in which they are carried being detached from the train at the station on the Railway's lines to which it is consigned, or at the station which, in the usual course of business, it leaves the Railway's lines.

22. The Railway shall not be responsible for delay or loss or damage to freight, either in consequence of waiting to be taken across a ferry, or while being transported over a ferry.

23. The Railway shall not be responsible for any goods mis-sent, unless they are properly addressed, and consigned to a station on its Railway. Rates, weights, quantities and description of goods entered on Receipts, or Shipping Notes, are not binding on the Railway, and will not be acknowledged. All goods going to or coming from any place out of Canada will be subject to Customs charges, &c.

24. In the transportation and handling of grain of any kind by the Railway, at all places of transhipment, and at all places or points to which the grain is consigned, where the Railway has elevators or warehouses, the grain, at the discretion of the Railway's agent may be deposited in the same bin or compartment with other grain of the same grade in the elevator or warehouse, in which event, the person entitled to claim the grain shipped shall become entitled to claim only the grain of the same kind and grade, but if the grade of the grain be deteriorated from causes for which the Railway is not responsible, the consignee must accept the grain as it is.

25. Wharfage, at the rates named in the Wharfage tariff, will be charged on all goods landed on or passing over the Railway wharves, except in cases where the goods are received or forwarded over the Railway without being taken off the Railway premises, and are not delayed at the instance of the owner, consignor or consignee.

26. Yardage at the rate of 10c. per ton per day will be charged on all lumber or other materials left upon the wharves, or other premises of the Railway. This charge will commence 48 hours after the lumber or other materials have been placed on the Railway premises. This charge will not apply to materials which are in sheds or warehouses, or which are on cars.

27. Cars loaded with lumber will not be allowed to stand over to give owners or consignees choice of positions at the receiving stations, when other berths are unoccupied.

28. Lumber will not be received for transportation at sidings, unless, by previous arrangement, it is shown to the satisfaction of the Traffic Manager that sufficient lumber for a full train load of 12 cars is so placed that it can readily be loaded on the cars with the assistance of an engine. The extra charge for such service will be $3.00 per hour, with a minimum charge of $15 for any part of a day, time to count from the hour the engine is ordered out for such service until it is registered in again, including running to and from the working point, but not including any time during which the engine may be laid up for the night. In the event of the engine and crew being sent, after the work of loading is completed, to some point other than the point from which originally ordered for such special service, time shall count until the engine and crew are registered in at such other point, but not longer than would have been occupied in returning the engine and crew to such original starting point.

29. To avoid errors in way-billing loaded cars at sidings, owners may fasten a ticket upon the side of the car, stating to whom the load belongs, and to whom and where it is consigned.

30. When goods are required to be loaded by the owner or his agent, or at his expense, all fittings (such as stakes, bunks, skids, chains, ropes, etc., for lumber, and side boards for sand, bricks, clay, stone, manganese, or articles of a similar character), must be provided by him, or will be charged to him, if furnished by the Railway. Such fittings will be transported back free, if necessary, but at the owner's risk.

31. When cars, liable to be laden, or unladen, by the owner or consignee of the goods, have been once placed, and for the convenience of the owner, or at his request, are shifted to another berth in the same station yard, a charge of $1.00 per car will be made for such service.

32. All the provisions of these conditions shall apply to and for the benefit of every carrier to whom goods may be subsequently delivered for carriage en route to their destination.

33. Nothing herein shall be deemed to curtail or diminish any powers conferred on the Railway by "The Government Railways Act."

34. All regulations previously enacted for the conveyance of live stock, goods and merchandize over the Railway, inconsistent with the foregoing, are hereby cancelled. 34–2

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

(Pacific Notice No. 2.)

All bearings, unless otherwise noted, are magnetic and are given from seaward, miles are nautical miles, heights are above high water, and all depths are at mean low water.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

(17) NORTHERN CHANNELS—GRAHAM REACH—KHUTZE INLET—ANCHORAGE.

The Chief Engineer of this Department when in British Columbia in August, 1902, made a survey of Khutze inlet, which runs inland from the east shore of Graham reach, and found good anchorage $\frac{4}{5}$ mile up the inlet from the prominent point on the north side of the entrance. The depth decreases gradually from 60 and 70 fathoms at the entrance to 25 fathoms, and then abruptly to a bar with only $2\frac{1}{4}$ fathoms on it towards the south shore of the inlet. Good anchorage in 8 fathoms will be found $1\frac{1}{3}$ cables N. 73° W. from the low spit on the south shore of the inlet, named Green spit. To find this anchorage mariners can go up the middle of the inlet with confidence until the extremity of this Green spit, which is the first low land seen on the south shore, bears due east, when they should proceed very slowly, sounding until a suitable depth is reached.

The bar described extends across the inlet, but has a depth of 10 fathoms on it near the north shore. Above the bar the water appears to be deep, but was not thoroughly sounded.

The inlet ends in a mud flat deposited from glacial streams.

ONTARIO LIGHTHOUSE DIVISION.

(18) St. Lawrence river—Upper entrance to Lachine canal—Range lights.—Dredged channel.

The mast light maintained by this Department on the upper end of the railway wharf at Lachine, at the upper entrance to the Lachine canal, in the county of Jacques Cartier, province of Quebec, was, in 1900, replaced by a permanent lighthouse forming the front light of a range established by the Department of Railways and Canals to indicate the axis of the dredged cut leading from the upper entrance of the canal into the 14-foot channel of the upper St. Lawrence system. These two lights were in 1902 transferred to the control of this department.

The front range lighthouse stands on an unpainted cribwork block, built on the west extremity of the railway wharf.

Lat. N. 45° 26′ 15″
Long. W. 73 40 56

The tower is in the form of the frustum of a cone, in steel, surmounted by a cylindrical metal lantern. It is painted white; the roof of the lantern is or unpainted copper. The height of the building, from the deck of the block on which it stands to the top of the ventilator on the lantern, is 29½ feet.

The light is an occulting white gas light, burning with full power for eight seconds, and with a dim light for two seconds, alternately, elevated 30 feet above the summer level of the lake. It should be visible 10 miles in, and over a small arc on each side of, the line of range, and also in the channel in passing. The illuminating apparatus is catoptric.

The back light is distant 904 feet N. 80° 47′ E. from the front one, and is a similar light. It is elevated 44 feet above the summer level of the lake, and should be visible 12 miles in, and over a small arc on each side of, the line of range.

The tower is similar to the front range light tower, but is higher. It stands on an unpainted cribwork block, in shoal water, in the bottom of the bay east of the railway wharf, and is connected with the shore by an elevated footpath. The height of the building, from the deck of the block to the top of the ventilator on the lantern, is 48½ feet.

The two lights in one, bearing S. 80° 47′ W., lead through the axis of the dredged cut, to the turning point 1½ miles distant.

A new channel, 300 feet wide, of canal depth, extends from the railway wharf for 1½ miles in the axis of the lights, to gas buoy No. 38 S., where the channel turns to a course N. 83° 23′ W., towards lightship No. 2. Both sides of this dredged channel are marked by spar buoys (see notice to mariners No. 74 (264) of 1902).

Mr. R. H. Davis, second officer of the steamer "Lord Charlemont," reports that at noon, 14th December, 1902, in latitude 43° 22′ N., longitude 58° 22′ W., on taking a cast of the lead he was surprised to find a depth of 48 fathoms; a few minutes afterward, the ship going due south in the meantime, got a cast in 38 fathoms. The ship was then put on a N. 67° E. course and 40 minutes afterward took two more casts, which gave 47 and 51 fathoms, respectively. After that, got no bottom at 100 fathoms. The ship's position, as determined above, was a good one, and was confirmed at 6 p.m. the same day by observation.

The bottom was coarse yellow sand, with red specks.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

(15) SOUTH COAST—GREEN BANK—NON-EXISTENCE OF SHOAL.

With reference to the shoal of 5 fathoms, reported to exist by the Norwegian vessel Anna Delius in 1881, in Lat. 45° 45′ N., Long. 54° 20′ W.

Information has been received from Staff Captain W. Tooker, R.N., H.M. surveying vessel Gulnare, that he searched for this shoal in June, 1902, over an area extending 10 miles north and south, and 12 miles east and west, without discovering any sign of its existence, nor could any confirmation of its existence be obtained from the bank fishermen engaged in fishing in the locality.

As it is considered that a shoal of 5 fathoms, described as consisting of mud, in such a locality must extend over a considerable area, and as no other report respecting it has been made, its existence is considered very problematical, and it has consequently been expunged from the charts.

(16) CHIGNECTO CHANNEL—ANDERSON HOLLOW—LIGHTHOUSE COMPLETED.

A lighthouse has been built at Anderson hollow, on the north side of Chignecto channel, Bay of Fundy, New Brunswick, to replace the lighthouse on the Government breakwater carried away on the 12th January, 1902. It stands on the edge of the bank on the shore north of the breakwater and directly opposite its outer end.

Lat. N. 45° 37′ 39″

It is a wooden tower, square in plan, with sloping sides, surmounted by a square wooden lantern, the whole painted white, and 31 feet high from its base to the vane on the lantern.

The light will be shown for the first time from the new building on the opening of navigation in 1903. It will be a fixed white light, elevated 91 feet above high water mark, and should be visible six miles from all points of approach by water. The illuminating apparatus is dioptric of the seventh order.

A hand fog horn at the lighthouse will be blown in answer to fog signals of vessels approaching the breakwater.

When the above described light and fog alarm are put in operation, the temporary red light now shown from a mast erected on the outer end of the breakwater will be permanently discontinued, and the fog horn will no longer be operated from the breakwater.

CHEMINS DE FER DE L'ÉTAT EN CANADA.

CONDITIONS GÉNÉRALES du transport des " marchandises " ou " articles ", termes qui signifient et comprennent la propriété de toutes sortes qui peut être transportée.

1. Les chemins de fer de l'Etat en Canada (ci-après appelés le " chemin de fer ") ne seront pas responsables au sujet des marchandises transportées sur le chemin de fer, à moins qu'un agent dûment autorisé n'en ait donné récépissé.

2. Il ne sera pas non plus responsable de la perte ou dommage d'argent en monnaie ou en billets, billets à ordre, lettres de change, valeurs pécuniaires, bijouteries, breloques, anneaux, pierres précieuses, or ou argent, ouvré ou non ouvré, vaisselle d'or ou argent ou articles en plaqué de toutes sortes ; pendules, montres, régulateurs, marbres sous une forme quelconque ; statuaire, dentelles, fourrures, soie tissée ou non tissée, et mêlée ou non à d'autres matières ; écrits de toutes sortes, titres, imprimés, cartes géographiques, tableaux, gravures ou autres articles de valeur ; ni des avaries éprouvées par de la poterie, de la faïencerie, des porcelaines, de la verrerie, des vêtements, instruments de musique, meubles, jouets, fontes de toutes sortes, poêle, articles en fonte, ou tout autre article fragile ou dont le transport est hasardeux, qu'ils soient en colis ou autrement, ou du poisson frais, viande fraîche, porcs et volaille habillés, ou tous articles périssables, ou toute machine, chaudière, cylindre, ou machinerie de toute sorte ; et si aucune propriété de la nature mentionnée dans la présente clause est acceptée ou transportée, elle est entièrement au risque du propriétaire, sans responsabilité directe ou indirecte de la part du chemin de fer à leur égard. Chaque voiture, sauf lorsqu'elle est bien et solidement encaissée, sera transportée uniquement au risque du propriétaire quant aux avaries par l'eau, le feu, la température et autres accidents.

3. Le chemin de fer ne sera pas responsable des dommages provenant de retards causés par des tempêtes ou accidents, surcharge de cargaison, ou causes inévitables, ni des dommages causés par la température, par l'eau, par le feu, la chaleur ou le froid, ni des dommages que ces retards pourront faire éprouver aux articles périssables, ni de ceux pouvant résulter de troubles civils.

4. Le chemin de fer ne sera pas non plus, en aucun cas, responsable de ce que le marché aura pu être manqué, ni d'aucun autre dommage résultant du retard d'aucun train, soit au départ ou à aucune des stations, ou dans le cours du trajet, ou en partant, et le chemin de fer ne s'engage pas à envoyer des articles par aucun train en particulier, s'il y a à la station un nombre insuffisant de wagons, ou si les wagons ne peuvent convenablement être employés à ce service, ou si, pour quelque cause, les wagons chargés à une station ne peuvent être expédiés par les trains passant par la station ou partant de cette station.

5. Il ne sera pas non plus responsable de la perte ou du dommage d'aucun colis insuffisamment ou mal marqué, empaqueté, adressé ou décrit, ou contenant des articles susceptibles de se briser ni de la perte ou dommage d'aucune caisse de chaussures, ou d'aucune caisse contenant des articles exposés au péculat ou à la soustraction frauduleuse à moins que la caisse ou colis ne soit ceinturé de fer ou de bois, ou autrement solidement protégé ; ni du coulage de toutes sortes, ni de la perte de liquides provenant d'une cause quelconque, ni de perte ou dommage d'effets mis dans des envelopes ou boîtes ou colis de retour vides ; ni des effets qu'on doit aller réclamer ou livrables à ordre, ou emmagasinés pour la facilité des propriétaires ou consignataires.

L'huile, ou les mélasses ou liquides ou dames-jeannes, s'ils sont transportés, le seront entièrement au risque des propriétaires ou consignataires sans aucune responsabilité que ce soit de la part du chemin de fer à leur égard. Dans le cas d'articles en quantités moindres qu'un char plein, les expéditeurs sont tenus de montrer sur chaque colis, en toutes lettres, le nom de l'endroit pour lequel les colis est destiné. Lorsque des colis qui ne sont pas ainsi marqués sont acceptés et expédiés par le chemin de fer, ce dernier ne sera pas responsable pour toute perte causée par des retards dans la livraisou.

6. Le chemin de fer ne sera pas responsable d'aucun déficit dans le poids ou la mesure du grain ou autre produit de la ferme ou du jardin, expédié en sacs ou en grenier ; ni d'avarie causée au grain par le chauffage, ni d'aucun déficit dans le poids, la quantité ou la mesure du bois, du charbon ou du fer transporté par chargement de wagon ; ni du coulage de toutes sortes de sucre, ou de leur diminution de poids, à moins qu'il ne puisse être prouvé que le colis a éprouvé quelque dommage pendant qu'il était en la possession du chemin de fer.

7. Les expéditeurs d'articles dangereux seront tenus responsables de tout dommage qui pourra résulter, à moins que leur nature ne soit distinctement désignée sur l'extérieur du colis, et sur la feuille d'envoi ; et en aucun cas le chemin de fer ne sera responsable de la perte de ces articles, ou des avaries qu'ils pourraient subir. Le chemin de fer ne se chargera pas du transport de l'eau-forte ou vitriol, allumettes chimiques, poudre à canon, ou autres articles dangereux, sauf à sa convenance et par arrangement spécial.

8. Tous les effets voiturés par le chemin de fer, quel qu'en soit le consignataire ou le propriétaire, seront assujétis à un gage pour leur transport et pour tous les frais encourus pour ces articles en particulier, et aussi pour toute la balance générale qui pourra être due par le propriétaire de ces articles au chemin de fer, ou au voiturier en la possession duquel ils se trouvent. Et si, après qu'un avis de six semaines aura été donné à l'effet que ces articles sont détenus pour toute telle réclamation, le montant dû n'est pas payé, les articles pourront, à la discrétion du chemin de fer ou de ce voiturier en possession, être vendus à l'enchère, ou par vente privée, pour défrayer les dites réclamations et le fret et charges y compris les frais de vente encourus. Mais le poisson, les fruits, la viande, les porcs habillés, la volaille et tous autres articles périssables, pourront être vendus de la même manière, à la discrétion du chemin de fer ou voiturier en possession, immédiatement après avoir donné l'avis susdit, si la dite réclamation n'est pas payée tout de suite.

9. Le chemin de fer ne sera pas responsable du voiturage ou livraison ou sûreté des articles et marchandises sur des lignes, soit par terre ou par eau, qui ne sont pas la ligne du chemin de fer ; et si un tarif de complet parcours est nommé jusqu'à un point autre qu'une station de la ligne du chemin de fer, le chemin de fer sera censé n'agir qu'en qualité d'agent du propriétaire des articles par rapport à cette partie du dit tarif requise pour parfaire les prix d'autres voituriers au delà de la ligne du chemin de fer. Si des effets sont consignés, soit pour entier parcours ou non, à un endroit que la ligne du chemin de fer n'atteint pas, alors, à moins que quelque voiturier correspondant ne soit nommé sur l'envoi, les articles seront délivrés par le chemin de fer à tel voiturier et à tel endroit sur a ligne du chemin de fer que le chemin de fer choisira ; si un voiturier correspondant est nommé, le chemin de fer transférera ces articles au voiturier ainsi nommé ; mais dans l'un ou l'autre cas le chemin de fer en transférant ainsi les articles sera censé n'agir qu'en qualité d'agent du propriétaire et la responsabilité du chemin de fer au sujet de toute perte, manquement, détention, dommage ou avarie que ce soit à des articles ainsi voiturés cessera aussitôt que le chemin de fer les aura soit livrés au prochain voiturier correspondant pour transport ultérieur, soit notifié ce voiturier qu'il est prêt à le faire, ou, dans le cas où il n'aurait pas d'occasion de les voiturer plus loin, alors aussitôt que le wagon qui les contient aura été détaché de son train à l'endroit de la ligne du chemin de fer d'où ils doivent être expédiés. Et tous effets, dont le voiturage est entrepris à un taux de complet parcours ou autrement, d'endroits au delà la ligne du chemin de fer, expédiés par eau, seront, tant qu'ils ne seront pas sur la ligne du chemin de fer ou dans ses appentis ou entrepôts, entièrement au risque du propriétaire.

10. Nul agent ou autre employé du chemin de fer n'est autorisé à se charger de billets de banque, d'argent ou de papiers de valeur.

11. Tout officier, employé ou serviteur du chemin de fer pourra refuser de prendre un paquet ou colis qu'il soupçonnera contenir des matières dangereuses, et pourra faire ouvrir le colis pour s'assurer du fait.

12. Le transport de tous les articles devant être laissés aux stations intermédiaires ou plateformes où il n'y a pas encore de gares d'établies, ou là où il n'y a pas d'agent de domicilié, devra être payé d'avance, et ces articles seront aux risques du propriétaire du moment qu'ils seront débarqués à telles stations ou sur telles plateformes ; et tous les articles qui y seront apportés pour le transport seront aussi aux risques du propriétaire jusqu'à ce qu'ils soient sur les wagons du chemin de fer.

13. S'il arrive quelque perte ou avarie aux articles pour lesquels le chemin de fer ou voituriers correspondants sont responsables, le chemin de fer ou voituriers ainsi responsables recevront le bénéfice de toute assurance effectuée par ou au compte du propriétaire des dits articles et sera subrogé dans ces droits avant que toute demande soit faite au sujet de cette perte ou avarie, et dans le cas de toute responsabilité que ce soit, le chemin de fer ne sera responsable que pour la valeur facturée de la propriété au point et au temps de l'expédition.

14. Les articles qui resteront aux stations plus de 48 heures après leur arrivée paieront pour l'emmagasinage au taux du tarif d'emmagasinage.

15. (a) Chaque fois que des articles doivent être chargés ou déchargés par le consignateur ou le consignataire, et que la chose n'est pas faite promptement après que le wagon ou les wagons ont été placés pour chargement, alors un loyer de wagon sera payable pour le délai, et ce loyer formera partie des frais contre les articles et sera recouvrable sous tous rapports comme s'ils formaient partie des frais de transport.

(b) Chaque fois que des articles doivent être déchargés par le consignataire et ne sont pas déchargés dans les quarante-huit heures après que le wagon a été placé pour déchargement, le chemin de fer ou le voiturier en la possession duquel se trouvent les articles, pourra, aux risques et frais du propriétaire, décharger et emmagasiner ou déposer ces articles aux endroits qui leur conviendront, et là-dessus les articles seront assujétis à un gage pour tous frais que ce soit, y compris les frais de garage, s'il y en a. Les articles déchargés par le propriétaire ne seront pas emmagasinés sur la propriété du chemin de fer sans la permission du chef de gare. Qu'ils soient déchargés par le propriétaire ou par le voiturier, les articles emmagasinés sur la propriété du chemin de fer seront soumis aux frais d'emmagasinage, et seront au seul risque du propriétaire quant aux avaries par le feu, quelle que soit la cause, et quant à toute perte ou dommage que ce soit, et seront enlevés de la propriété du chemin de fer immédiatement après avis donné à cet effet.

Il sera exigé au moins $1 par wagon par jour, ou partie de jour, lorsque les wagons sont plus que 48 heures à être chargés ou déchargés.

16. Nul article ne sera livré tant que les frais de transport ne seront pas payés, et le chemin de fer ne sera pas responsable de l'exactitude des frais antérieurs ou postérieurs (back or advance charges) sur des articles, etc., transportés par d'autres voies ferrées, compagnies, diligence ou particuliers, et lorsqu'ils seront consignés à ordre, des connaissements devront être endossés et remis avant livraison.

17. Nulle réclamation pour perte ou dommage (dont le chemin de fer pourra autrement être responsable) ne sera admise, à moins qu'un avis écrit, et les détails de la dite perte, dommage ou détention ne soient donnés à l'agent de la station, à ou le plus près de l'endroit de destination, sous trente-six heures après que les articles qui font le sujet de la réclamation, ou telle partie d'iceux qui n'est pas perdue, auront été livrés.

18. Il ne sera pas exigé moins de vingt-cinq centins pour le transport d'un seul colis ou consignation.

19. Tout le bétail transporté sur le chemin de fer devra être chargé et déchargé par le propriétaire ou son agent, et doit être nourri à ses frais pendant le trajet ; et sera pris et transporté entièrement à ses risques de perte, blessure, dommage et tous autres accidents, soit pendant le chargement, déchargement, transport ou autrement, et aux présents termes et conditions générales. Tout bétail sera transporté par contrat spécial seulement, et aux conditions additionnelles et spéciales qui suivent :—

(1) Le propriétaire de tout animal entreprend et assume tout risque de perte, blessure, dommage et autres accidents dans le chargement, déchargement, transport, voiturage, ou autrement, quelle que soit la cause.

(2) Le chemin de fer n'entreprend pas d'expédier aucun animal par un train particulier, ou à une heure spécifique ; il ne sera pas responsable non plus de la livraison des animaux dans un certain temps ou pour un certain marché.

(3) Lorsque le passage gratuit est donné à une personne en charge d'un animal, ou d'animaux, c'est à la condition expresse que le chemin de fer n'est pas responsable d'aucune négligence, défaut, ou inconduite de toutes sortes de la part du chemin de fer ou de ses employés, ou de toute personne ou personnes que ce soit causant ou portant à causer la mort, blessure ou détention de toute personne ou personnes voyageant ainsi gratuitement, et que cette personne ou ces personnes soient ainsi transportées gratuitement sur un train régulier de passagers ou sur tout autre train que ce soit, la personne voyageant ainsi gratuitement prend tous les risques que ce soit.

20. Dans tous les cas non autrement prévus, la livraison des articles sera considérée complète, et les responsabilités du chemin de fer cesseront lorsque les articles sont placés dans les hangars ou entrepôts du chemin de fer (s'il existe des commodités pour les recevoir) à la destination finale, ou lorsque les articles sont arrivés à l'endroit à atteindre sur le chemin de fer ; l'entreposage de tous articles sera aux risque et frais du propriétaire ; et si le chemin de fer est incapable d'emmagasiner les articles reçus, alors il pourra mettre ces articles dans tout entrepôt disponible, aux risque et frais du propriétaire des articles ainsi emmagasinés, et tous frais encourus pour emmagasiner, entreposer et voiturer formeront un gage additionnel sur les dits articles.

21. L'obligation du chemin de fer de voiturer et délivrer du bois de service, de la houille, de la brique et tous autres articles transportés par charge de wagon sera remplie, et la responsabilité du chemin de fer à leur égard cessera, lorsque le wagon qui les contient est détaché du train à la station sur la ligne du chemin de fer à laquelle ils sont consignés, ou à la station où dans le cours ordinaire des affaires il quitte les lignes du chemin de fer.

22. Le chemin de fer ne sera pas responsable des retards, pertes ou avaries aux marchandises causés en traversant un passage d'eau, ou en étant transportés sur un bateau-passeur.

23. Le chemin de fer ne sera pas responsable des articles mal dirigés à moins qu'ils soient bien adressés, et consignées à une station sur son chemin de fer. Les taux, poids, quantité et description des articles inscrits sur les récépissés, feuilles d'envoi, ne sont pas obligatoires pour le chemin de fer, et ne seront pas reconnus. Tous les articles allant ou venant de quelque endroit en dehors du Canada seront assujétis aux droits de douane, etc.

24. Dans le voiturage et maniement du grain de toute sorte par le chemin de fer, à tous les points de transbordement, et à tous les endroits ou points auxquels le grains est consigné, où le chemin de fer a des élévateurs ou entrepôts, le grain, à la discrétion de l'agent du chemin de fer, pourra être déposé dans le même coffre ou compartiment avec d'autre grain de la même qualité dans l'élévateur ou entrepôt, et dans ce cas la personne qui a droit de réclamer le grain expédié ne pourra réclamer que le grain de la même classe et qualité, mais si la qualité du grain est détériorée par des causes pour lesquelles le chemin de fer n'est pas responsable, le consignataire devra accepter le grain tel qu'il est.

25. Des droits de quaiage aux taux mentionnés dans le tarif de quaiage seront exigés pour tous les articles débarqués ou passant sur les quais du chemin de fer, excepté dans les cas où ces articles doivent être expédiés par le chemin de fer et ne sont pas retardés à l'instance du propriétaire, de l'expéditeur ou du consignataire.

26. Des frais de remisage au taux de 10 centins par tonneau par jour seront imposés sur tout bois de service ou autres matériaux laissés sur les quais ou autre propriété du chemin de fer. Cet impôt commencera à courir 48 heures après que le bois de service ou autres matériaux ont été placés sur les terrains du chemin de fer. Cet impôt ne s'appliquera pas aux matériaux qui sont dans des hangars ou entrepôts ou qui sont dans ou sur les wagons.

27. Les wagons chargés de bois de service ne resteront pas en place pour donner aux propriétaires ou consignataires le choix du lieu de déchargement aux stations de destination, lorsque d'autres places seront inoccupées.

28. Les bois de service et d'autres articles ne seront pas reçus aux voies d'évitement pour transport, à moins qu'à la suite d'un arrangement spécial il ne soit démontré à la satisfaction du surintendant du trafic qu'une quantité suffisante pour charger un train de douze wagons sera placée de manière que son chargement puisse se faire à l'aide d'une locomotive. Les frais supplémentaires exigés pour ce service seront de $3 par heure, avec une taxe minimum de $15 pour toute fraction d'une journée, à compter de l'heure où la locomotive a été désignée pour ce service jusqu'à ce qu'elle s'en revienne, y compris le va-et-vient au lieu de chargement ; mais ne comprenant pas le temps où la locomotive sera remisée pour la nuit. Dans le cas où la locomotive et l'équipe seraient envoyées, après que le travail de chargement est fini, à quelque point autre que celui pour lequel elles étaient d'abord envoyées pour ce service spécial, le temps comptera jusqu'à ce que la locomotive et l'équipe soient enregistrées à tel autre point, mais pas plus longtemps que ce qui aurait été occupé à ramener la locomotive et l'équipe au premier point de départ.

29. Pour éviter les erreurs à l'égard du connaissement des wagons chargés aux voies d'évitement, les propriétaires devront mettre une étiquette, sur le côté du wagon, qui indiquera à qui appartient le chargement, sa destination, et à qui il est consigné.

30. Quand il sera exigé que des articles soient chargés par le propriétaire ou son agent, ou à ses frais, tous les accessoires (tels que supports, bâtons, sommiers, chaînes, amarres, etc., pour le bois de service, et cloisons pour la houille, le sable, la brique, l'argile, la pierre, le manganèse ou autres articles analogues), devront être fournis par lui, ou seront portés à son compte s'ils sont fournis par le chemin de fer. Ces accessoires seront rapportés gratuitement si c'est nécessaire, mais aux risques du propriétaire.

31. Lorsque des wagons qui doivent être chargés ou déchargés par le propriétaire ou consignataire des articles ont été placés à cette fin, et que pour la commodité du propriétaire ou qu'à sa demande ils sont changés de place à la même station pour terminer leur chargement ou déchargement, une piastre par wagon sera exigée pour ce service.

32. Toutes les dispositions des présentes conditions s'appliqueront a chaque voiturier auquel les effets auront été subséquemment délivrés pour transport en route à leur destination.

33. Rien de contenu aux présentes ne sera censé diminuer aucun des pouvoirs conférés au chemin de fer par l'Acte des chemins de fer de l'Etat.

34. Tous les règlements précédemment établis à l'égard du voiturage d'articles et marchandises sur ce chemin de fer, et qui sont incompatibles avec les règlements qui précèdent, sont abrogés. 34-2

AVIS AUX NAVIGATEURS

No. 9 de 1903.

Tous les relèvements, à moins d'avis contraire, sont magnétiques et sont donnés venant de la mer, les milles sont des milles marins, les hauteurs sont au-dessus des hautes eaux, et toutes les profondeurs sont à l'eau basse moyenne.

DIVISION DES PHARES D'ONTARIO.

(18) FLEUVE SAINT-LAURENT—ENTRÉE SUPÉRIEURE DU CANAL LACHINE—FEUX D'ALIGNEMENT—CHENAL DRAGUÉ.

Le feu de tête de mât entretenu par ce ministère sur l'extrémité supérieure du quai de chemin de fer à Lachine, à l'entrée supérieure du canal Lachine, dans le comté de Jacques Cartier, province de Québec, a été, en 1900, remplacé par un phare permanent formant le feu antérieur d'un alignement établi par le ministère des Chemins de fer et Canaux pour indiquer l'axe de la tranchée draguée conduisant de l'entrée supérieure du canal au chenal de 14 pieds du réseau du Saint-Laurent en haut. En 1902 ces deux feux furent transférés à ce ministère.

Le phare antérieur repose sur un caisson construit sur l'extrémité ouest du quai de chemin de fer.

Lat. N. 45° 26′ 15″
Long. O. 73 40 56

La tour est en forme de cône tronqué, en acier, surmontée d'une lanterne cylindrique en métal. Peinturée en blanc; le toit de la lanterne est de cuivre non peinturé. La hauteur de la construction, depuis le pont de la pile sur laquelle elle repose jusqu'au sommet du ventilateur sur la lanterne, est de 29½ pieds.

Le feu est à gaz blanc à occultations, brûlant d'un vif éclat pendant huit secondes, et d'un éclat faible pendant deux secondes, alternativement, à une hauteur de 30 pieds au-dessus du niveau l'été du lac, et devrait être visible à dix milles dans un petit rayon de chaque côté de l'alignement, et aussi dans le chenal en passant. L'appareil lumineux est catoptrique.

Le feu postérieur est à 904 pieds N. 80° 47′ E. du feu antérieur, et est semblable. Il est à 44 pieds au-dessus du niveau d'été du lac, et devrait être visible à 12 milles dans un petit rayon de chaque côté de l'alignement.

La tour est semblable à celle du feu antérieur, mais plus haute. Elle repose sur un caisson non peinturé, en eau peu profonde au fond de la baie à l'est du quai du chemin de fer, et est reliée au rivage par un sentier élevé. La hauteur du bâtiment, depuis le plancher de la pile jusqu'au sommet du ventilateur sur la lanterne, est de 48½ pieds.

Les deux feux en conjonction, dans une direction S. 80° 47′ O., conduisent dans l'axe de la tranchée draguée, jusqu'au point de virement à 1½ milles de distance.

Un nouveau chenal, large de 300 pieds, profondeur règlementaire, s'étend du quai du chemin de fer sur 1½ mille dans l'axe des feux, jusqu'à la bouée à gaz No. 38 S., où le chenal se détourne à N. 83° 23′ O., vers le bateau-feu No. 2. DEMANDES AU PARLEMENT.

RÈGLES in re AVIS DE BILLS PRIVÉS.

Dans le cas de toute demande de bills privés, proprement du ressort législatif du Parlement du Canada suivant les dispositions de l'Acte de l'Amérique Britannique du Nord, 1867, ayant pour objet la concession à une ou plusieurs personnes de certains droits ou privilèges exclusifs ou particuliers, ou le pouvoir de faire quelque chose qui, dans ses effets, pourrait toucher aux droits ou à la propriété d'autrui, ou concerner une classe particulière de la société ; ou ayant pour objet quelque amendement à un acte antérieur,—un avis, énonçant d'une manière claire et intelligible la nature et l'objet de la demande (sauf s'il s'agit de corporations déjà existantes) par les pétitionnaires ou de leur part, est nécessaire et doit être publié comme il suit :—

Dans les provinces de Québec et du Manitoba.

Dans la Gazette du Canada en anglais et en français, ainsi que dans un journal anglais et un journal français, du district intéressé, ou en anglais et en français dans le même journal, s'il ne s'en publie qu'un seul dans ce district ; ou s'il n'y paraît pas de journal, alors la publication de l'avis en anglais et en français doit se faire dans un journal du district le plus voisin où il s'en publie.

Dans les autres provinces ou territoires.

Dans la Gazette du Canada, et dans un journal du comté, du district ou des comtés-unis intéressés, ou s'il n'y paraît pas de journal alors la publication doit se faire dans un journal du comté ou district le plus voisin où il s'en publie. La publication de ces avis durera, dans chaque cas, la période de deux mois au moins pendant l'intervalle de temps qui s'écoulera entre la clôture de la session précédente et la prise en considération de la pétition. Des exemplaires marqués de tous les numéros des journaux reproduisant la première et la dernière insertion de l'avis, devront être transmis au greffier de chaque chambre, et porter à l'enclos "Demande de bill privé."

Si la pétition demande l'autorisation de présenter un bill privé ayant pour objet la construction d'un pont de péage, les pétitionnaires devront aussi, en même temps et de la même manière, donner avis du taux de péages projeté, de l'étendue du privilège, de la hauteur des arches, de l'espace à laisser libre entre les culées ou les piles pour le passage des radeaux et des navires ; et, si c'est un pont mobile, quelles en seront les dimensions.

Toute personne désirant obtenir un bill privé devra, dans les huit jours au moins qui précéderont l'ouverture du parlement, déposer au bureau du greffier de la Chambre dans laquelle le bill doit prendre naissance une copie de ce bill en langue anglaise ou en langue française, avec une somme suffisante pour en payer la traduction et l'impression. Après la seconde lecture et avant la prise en considération du bill par tout comité, le pétitionnaire aura aussi à payer au greffier du Sénat, ou au comptable de la Chambre des Communes (selon le cas) un honoraire de $200, plus une somme suffisante pour défrayer le coût de l'impression de l'acte dans les Statuts, et remettra le reçu de ce paiement au greffier du comité auquel ce bill aura été renvoyé.

L'honoraire de $200 payable sur tout bill privé, ne sera payé que dans la Chambre où ce bill a pris naissance ; mais les frais de réimpression et de traduction nécessités par ce bill seront payés dans la Chambre où ces frais sont encourus.

Aucune pétition pour l'obtention d'un bill privé ne sera reçue par le Sénat ou par la Chambre des Communes, après les premières trois semaines de la session.

Aucun bill privé ne pourra être présenté au Sénat ou à la Chambre des Communes après les premières quatre semaines de la session.

Laure & Picard the sum of $300 for any privileges they might be entitled to as squatters upon Lot No. 39 in the Southern part of Lesser Slave Lake Settlement and also as purchase money for their buildings erected thereon, and has asked that this lot be set apart from sale and settlement, and reserved for the Mounted Police,—

Therefore the Governor General in Council is pleased to order that the said lot shall be and the same is hereby reserved from general sale and settlement and set apart as a reserve for North-west Mounted Police purposes.

AT THE GOVERNMENT HOUSE AT OTTAWA.

Wednesday, the 4th day of February, 1903.

PRESENT :

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

ON a Memorandum, dated 21st January, 1903, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that application has been made by the Minister of Justice for the transfer to his Department, for the purposes of the British Columbia Penitentiary, of Goose Island, situated about the centre of Pitt Lake, in Section 25, Township 5, Range 5, west of the Seventh Meridian, in the Railway Belt in British Columbia, the said island being required for the quarrying of stone thereon for use in connection with the penitentiary.

The Minister recommends, as the land is vacant in the records of the Department of the Interior, that, under clause 31 of the Dominion Lands Act, it be transferred to the Department of Justice for the purposes of the British Columbia penitentiary as above mentioned.

The Committee submit the same for approval.

JOHN J. McGEE,
34-4 Clerk of the Privy Council.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

No. 10 of 1903.

(Atlantic Notice No. 6.)

All bearings, unless otherwise noted, are magnetic and are given from seaward, miles are nautical miles, heights are above high water, and all depths are at mean low water.

NOVA SCOTIA.

(19) North Atlantic Ocean—Sable island—Sailing directions.

The following particulars respecting Sable island have been rewritten by the Chief Engineer of this department from the sailing directions for the southeast of Nova Scotia and bay of Fundy, published by the British Admiralty office in 1894, and embody the results of a survey made by him in October, 1899, as well as later departmental records:—

Sable island, so called because it consists practically of pure sand, is shaped like a bow, concave to the northward. The north and south sides of the island are formed of two nearly parallel ridges of hills, steep towards the sea, but sloping gradually inward to the interior of the island, which is low and comparatively flat. The whole length of the island, following the curve and including the dry parts of the bars, is 23 miles; or S. 77° E., 21¾ miles, in a direct line across the curve; its greatest breadth is 1⅓ miles. In most parts it is wholly or partially covered with grass; but in some places the sand is scooped out by the winds into crater-shaped hollows, or thrown up into hills, varying in height to a maximum of 110 feet above high water. Some of these hills are frequently changed in position by the wind. Between the bordering ridges a long pond named Lake Wallace, gradually filling with blown sand, but still in some parts 12 feet deep, extends from near the west end to the distance of ten miles; and a low valley continues from it 6 miles to the northeast end of the island. Lake Wallace is sometimes connected with the sea by mean of a channel through the south bar, at other times the channel is entirely closed by storm. New channels are usually in different localities from the old ones. When there is no channel the sea flows into the pond over the low sandy beach only in high tides and heavy gales.

When seen from the north, from a distance of 9 or 10 miles, the island presents the appearance of a long range of sand-hills, some of which are very white. From the south, the range of white sand appears more continuous, and very low towards the west end. On a nearer approach many of the sand-hills are seen to have been partly removed by the wind, so as to form steep cliffs next the sea. In most parts they are covered by grass, and defended by a broad beach, which, however, cannot be reached without passing over bars of sand covered with only a few feet of water. These bars, which are parallel to the shore at distances not exceeding one-third of a mile, form heavy breakers, and are dangerous to passing boats, when there is any sea running.

Lights.—The lighthouse near the east end of Sable island is an octagonal wooden building, 86 feet in height, with its sides painted alternately white and brown. It is situated 1½ miles west from the east point of the hills, or 5 miles from the extremity of the dry spit, and exhibits, at an elevation of 128 feet above high water, a fixed white light, which should be seen in clear weather from a distance of 17 miles.

The lighthouse near the west end of Sable island is an octagonal wooden building, 98 feet in height, painted white, with a red roof.

It stands 1⅓ miles from the west extremity of the dry spit and 16⅔ miles N. 72½° W. from the east lighthouse, and exhibits, at an elevation of 118 feet above high water, a group flashing white light, which shows three distinct flashes at intervals of half a minute, and is then eclipsed during one and a half minutes, the whole occupying three minutes. It should be visible in clear weather for a distance of 16 miles.

Positions.—The main station flagstaff on Sable island is in lat. 43° 56′ 24″ N., long. 60° 2′ 47″ W.; the west extremity of the grassy sand-hills in latitude 43° 56′ 44″ N., long. 60° 7′ 20″ W.; and the east extremity of the grassy sand-hills in lat. 43° 59′ 9″ N., and long. 59° 42′ 13″ W. In 1852 these extremities were respectively in lat. 43° 56′ 44″ N., longitude 60° 8′ 31″ W., and lat. 43° 58′ 57″ N., longitude 59° 45′ 33″ W.; but now the sea covers land at the west end were vegetation was formerly seen and new land is gradually making at the east end, as vegetation now appears were it was covered by water. Since the lighthouses were established in 1873 it has been necessary to move the west end lighthouse eastward on two occasions and the continuous wasting of the west end will soon render a third removal requisite. The distance of the island from the lighthouse on Whitehead island, the nearest part of Nova Scotia, is 85 miles.

Productions.—The quantity and variety of vegetation on this gigantic sand bar is extraordinary. Besides two kinds of grass, there are wild peas and other plants, affording subsistence to wild ponies, as well as to the domestic cattle belonging to the establishment. There are no other animals on the island. there are four or five kinds of edible berries in great abundance, and many flowers and shrubs, but no trees, except in a plantation experimentally established in 1901. There are good gardens at the several stations. The climate is much milder and more equable that on the neighbouring mainland, but high winds are frequent, and in winter storms, salt spray is carried across the land, scalding and destroying all but the hardiest vegetation.

Fresh water can be obtained in almost any part by digging down a few feet into the sand in the flats, or from the numerous ponds. Seals, and abundance of wild fowl, frequent the island in their seasons.

The fisheries around the island are exceedingly valuable, but the danger of remaining near its formidable bars has hitherto restricted the number of vessels engaged in them.

The establishment on Sable island for the relief of shipwrecked persons is supported by the government of Canada, with the assistance of an annual grant of £400 by the Imperial government; a small revenue is derived from the periodical sale of wild ponies, cranberries, &c., and occasionally from salvage on the sale of wrecked vessels and their cargoes. The headquarters, or main station, is situated $2\frac{3}{4}$ miles east of the west lighthouse, on the north side of the island, between the lake and the sand-hills, and consists of a comfortable house for the superintendent and his family, buildings for the men and occasional accommodation of shipwrecked persons, stores, workshops, stabling, &c.

The flagstaff which points out the position of the main station stands on a sand-hill 40 feet high, and with its crows-nest or look-out, 100 feet above the sea, is a conspicuous object on the north side of the island. Another station, known as No. 2 station, is situated on the north side of the island, $4\frac{2}{5}$ miles east of main station; the flagstaff here stands on the summit of a sand-hill, but, having no crows-nest, is not conspicuous.

No. 3 station is farther inland, at the east end of Wallace lake, 4 miles to the eastward of No. 2, and $4\frac{1}{3}$ miles to the westward of No. 4 station. The flagstaff here with its crows-nest is the most conspicuous in approaching from the southward and the life-boat house connected with the station is on the summit of the ridge on the south shore.

No. 4 station on the north side of the island is $1\frac{1}{5}$ miles to the westward of the eastern lighthouse; the flagstaff here with its crows-nest standing on a sand-hill on the north shore is a conspicuous object.

These four look-outs with the two lighthouses form a chain of stations from which the shores of the whole island with its bars are watched in clear and patrol ed in thick or bad weather; each station is in charge of a married man, who has a comfortable dwelling, so that shipwrecked mariners or passengers are sure of prompt relief. No wrecks can take place on the island at a greater distance than five miles from some one of these posts, and in the event of a wreck occurring the outpost notifies the superintendent at the main station, all the stations, as well as the hut on the east bar, being connected by telephone.

The superintendent has under him 17 men, who are stationed as follows, viz.:—the superintendent and seven men at the main station; the lightkeeper and 1 assistant at the west end lighthouse; the lightkeeper and 1 assistant at the east end lighthouse; two men at No. 2; 2 men at No. 3, and 3 men at No. 4 station.

In 1900 Sable island had 46 inhabitants, consisting of the staff with their families. Residence on the island without a license from the Minister of Marine and Fisheries is illegal, and a punishable offence.

Communication.—The Department of Marine and Fisheries of Canada sends a lighthouse tender periodically to the island, and the superintendent has in store a seaworthy sloop, which can be used for crossing to the mainland in case of necessity.

Wrecks.—From a wreck chart prepared in Canada, it appears that the number of known wrecks on Sable island and its bars, for each decennial period of the last century, are as follows:—Ending 1810, eleven; 1820, nine; 1830, eighteen; 1840, twenty-five; 1850, twenty; 1860, twenty-three; 1870, eighteen; 1880, nineteen; 1890, ten; and 1900, twelve.

Life-saving apparatus.—Life boats are stationed at No. 4 station, at No. 3 station, and at the main station, besides surf boats. There is also a rocket apparatus at the main station, and a life car at No. 4 station.

During fogs and snow storms mounted men patrol the beach to ascertain if any wrecks have taken place.

Mariners are advised that the only loss of life which has occurred on Sable island since the life-saving establishment was organized has been caused by sailors leaving their ships in their own boats. In every case where crews have waited for the line-throwing apparatus or the life-boats they have been saved.

In case of wreck, mariners will do well to bear this in mind and endeavour to remain by their ships until the assistance of the island staff is available.

The West Bar in 1899 dried about three quarters of a mile from the end of the grassy sand-hills, but changes in size and shape with every storm. There are several patches nearly dry about a mile farther out, and then nine miles of heavy breakers, succeeded, in bad weather, by seven miles more in which the depth increases from 5 to 10 fathoms, and where there is usually a great ripple and a heavy cross sea. Since 1852 the sea has encroached on the land and covered places where grass formerly grew, and in 1888 this encroachment threatened the destruction of the western lighthouse, necessitating its removal to a position $1\frac{1}{3}$ miles farther to the eastward. The direction of this bar is N.W. ½ N. for the first 12 miles, thence W. by N. for the remaining distance; the whole extent of the bar from the end of the grassy sand-hills to the depth of 10 fathoms being 17 miles, beyond which the water deepens gradually to the westward for many miles. Mariners having local knowledge cross this bar through a channel which exists within two or three miles of the dry bar, but which has not been surveyed.

Caution.—In consequence of the submergence of part of the West bar, and the necessitated removal of the lighthouse eastward, mariners are cautioned that that there will probably be increased danger in navigating in the vicinity of the west end of Sable island.

The East Bar, during fine weather, dried in 1899 about $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles from East point, the end of the grassy sand-hills. At a distance of $2\frac{1}{4}$ miles northeastward from the east lighthouse a hut has been built to serve as a shelter for mariners wrecked on the east dry bar. This hut contains fuel, provisions and water, and is connected with all the stations by telephone. The $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles of dry sand are succeeded by 8 or 9 miles of heavy breakers; the whole length of this bar, from the grassy sand-hills to the depth of 10 fathoms, being 14 miles.

Since 1852 the sea has receded, and vegetation now appears in places which were covered by water. Its direction is E.N.E. for the first 7 miles, beyond which it curves gradually to E.S.E. till it terminates. The ridge of sand, with a depth of from 10 to 13 fathoms on it, and with often a heavy cross sea, continues for ten miles farther to the E.S.E., and then ends abruptly, the depth increasing, in a distance of 3 miles farther in the same direction, to 170 fathoms, in the channel between Sable island and Banquereau bank.

Sable island and its submerged bars form a crescent, concave towards the north, and extend over more than 50 miles of sea. Vessels should be careful not to be caught within this crescent in a strong gale from the northward, when the accelerated ebb tide, setting directly towards and over the bars, would render their situation extremely dangerous. Both the bars are extremely steep on the north side, the East bar especially so, having 30 fathoms water close to it. To the southward, on the contrary, the water deepens gradually for many miles, and renders it difficult to account for the great number of shipwrecks on that side of the island and its bars, unless they are to be attributed to the neglect of the lead.

Wrecks on the bars are of course far more dangerous to life than those that take place on the island, and it is important in such cases to know on which bar the vessel is, and the consequent direction in which to seek for safety on the island. This information, when the island is hidden by fog, or the darkness of night, must be sought by observing the direction of the line of breakers, which on the East bar is between N.E.

by E. and East, until near its outer extremity, whilst on the West bar it is N.W. ½ N.

Anchorage.—Off the north side of Sable island, excepting near the east end, where the deep water approaches too near the shore, there is good anchorage in 5 to 10 fathoms, from one to two miles off shore. The bottom is fine sand, and holds well, but the sea is so heavy, excepting with off-shore winds, that a vessel should weigh immediately on first indications of a wind from seaward.

Directions.—In approaching the anchorage off Sable island from the northward at night or in thick weather, the lead should be kept constantly going; and after passing the middle ground, distant about 25 miles to the northward of the island, great caution should be used, and the vessel should be certain of her position, for the east end of the island and the east bar are very steep on that side.

Vessels seldom anchor off the south side of the island because of the prevailing heavy swell from the southward; but they may safely approach by the lead on that side, taking care not to become becalmed in a heavy swell, and in the strong and uncertain tides and currents near the bars.

The landing is in general impracticable on the south side, excepting after a long continuance of northerly winds; and on the north side boats can land only during southerly winds and fine weather. The best method of communicating with the island is to anchor in 7 fathoms, ¾ mile N. 16° E. of the main station, and signal to the lookout. A surf boat will go out from the station if a landing is practicable, and this boat, with its experienced crew, can land when ordinary boats would swamp.

Tides.—It is high water, full and change, on the north side of Sable island at 7h. 30m., and on the south side about an hour earlier; springs rise about 4 feet. The tidal streams are much influenced by the wind. The ebb sets to the southward on and over the bars, often at the rate of 1½ or 2 knots an hour; the flood at a much less rate in a contrary direction.

(20) STRAIT OF GEORGIA—FRASER RIVER MOUTH—LIGHTS ESTABLISHED.

Two beacon light buildings have been erected by the Government of Canada on the sand heads of the Fraser river. Each structure consists of a square wooden tower, 8 feet high, painted white, standing on a platform supported on piles.

The lights, which will be put in operation without further notice on or about 1st March, 1903, will be fixed white lights, shown from 31-day Wigham lamps, elevated 22 feet above high water mark, and should be visible 9 miles from all points of approach by water. The illuminating apparatus consists of pressed glass lenses. The lights will be of the class of unwatched lights.

North dam lighthouse.—The more easterly structure stands at the southwest end of the dam across the opening to the northward, on the south edge of the sand head on the north side of the main channel into the Fraser river, and to the north of No. 2 red buoy.

Lat. N. 49° 7′ 27″
Long. W. 123 13 41

The light is S. 72° 51′ W. 1⅘ miles from Garry point light, and a line joining the two lights is directly in the channel and brings the red buoys on the starboard side in entering.

South curve lighthouse.—The more westerly light stands on the north edge of the sand heads on the south side of the main channel into the Fraser river, southwardly from No. 4 black buoy.

Lat. N. 49° 5′ 55″
Long. W. 123 15 32

The light is S. 16° W. 1 mile 9⅗ cables from the above described light, and S. 40° 35′ W. 3 miles 1½ cables from Garry point light. A line from Sand heads bell buoy to this light is almost directly in the channel, and brings all the black buoys on the port side in entering.

(17) NORTHERN CHANNELS—GRAHAM REACH—KHUTZE INLET—ANCHORAGE.

The Chief Engineer of this Department when in British Columbia in August, 1902, made a survey of Khutze inlet, which runs inland from the east shore of Graham reach, and found good anchorage $\frac{4}{5}$ mile up the inlet from the prominent point on the north side of the entrance. The depth decreases gradually from 60 and 70 fathoms at the entrance to 25 fathoms, and then abruptly to a bar with only $2\frac{1}{4}$ fathoms on it towards the south shore of the inlet. Good anchorage in 8 fathoms will be found $1\frac{1}{3}$ cables N. 73° W. from the low spit on the south shore of the inlet, named Green spit. To find this anchorage mariners can go up the middle of the inlet with confidence until the extremity of this Green spit, which is the first low land seen on the south shore, bears due east, when they should proceed very slowly, sounding until a suitable depth is reached.

The bar described extends across the inlet, but has a depth of 10 fathoms on it near the north shore. Above the bar the water appears to be deep, but was not thoroughly sounded.

The inlet ends in a mud flat deposited from glacial streams.

(18) ST. LAWRENCE RIVER—UPPER ENTRANCE TO LACHINE CANAL—RANGE LIGHTS.—DREDGED CHANNEL.

The mast light maintained by this Department on the upper end of the railway wharf at Lachine, at the upper entrance to the Lachine canal, in the county of Jacques Cartier, province of Quebec, was, in 1900, replaced by a permanent lighthouse forming the front light of a range established by the Department of Railways and Canals to indicate the axis of the dredged cut leading from the upper entrance of the canal into the 14-foot channel of the upper St. Lawrence system. These two lights were in 1902 transferred to the control of this department.

The front range lighthouse stands on an unpainted cribwork block, built on the west extremity of the railway wharf.

Lat. N. 45° 26′ 15″
Long. W. 73 40 56

The tower is in the form of the frustum of a cone, in steel, surmounted by a cylindrical metal lantern. It is painted white; the roof of the lantern is or unpainted copper. The height of the building, from the deck of the block on which it stands to the top of the ventilator on the lantern, is 29½ feet.

The light is an occulting white gas light, burning with full power for eight seconds, and with a dim light for two seconds, alternately, elevated 30 feet above the summer level of the lake. It should be visible 10 miles in, and over a small arc on each side of, the line of range, and also in the channel in passing. The illuminating apparatus is catoptric.

The back light is distant 904 feet N. 80° 47′ E. from the front one, and is a similar light. It is elevated 44 feet above the summer level of the lake, and should be visible 12 miles in, and over a small arc on each side of, the line of range.

The tower is similar to the front range light tower, but is higher. It stands on an unpainted cribwork block, in shoal water, in the bottom of the bay east of the railway wharf, and is connected with the shore by an elevated footpath. The height of the building, from the deck of the block to the top of the ventilator on the lantern, is 48½ feet.

The two lights in one, bearing S. 80° 47′ W., lead through the axis of the dredged cut, to the turning point 1½ miles distant.

A new channel, 300 feet wide, of canal depth, extends from the railway wharf for 1½ miles in the axis of the lights, to gas buoy No. 38 S., where the channel turns to a course N. 83° 23′ W., towards lightship No. 2. Both sides of this dredged channel are marked by spar buoys (see notice to mariners No. 74 (264) of 1902).

Mr. R. H. Davis, second officer of the steamer "Lord Charlemont," reports that at noon, 14th December, 1902, in latitude 43° 22′ N., longitude 58° 22′ W., on taking a cast of the lead he was surprised to find a depth of 48 fathoms; a few minutes afterward, the ship going due south in the meantime, got a cast in 38 fathoms. The ship was then put on a N. 67° E. course and 40 minutes afterward took two more casts, which gave 47 and 51 fathoms, respectively. After that, got no bottom at 100 fathoms. The ship's position, as determined above, was a good one, and was confirmed at 6 p.m. the same day by observation.

The bottom was coarse yellow sand, with red specks.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

(15) SOUTH COAST—GREEN BANK—NON-EXISTENCE OF SHOAL.

With reference to the shoal of 5 fathoms, reported to exist by the Norwegian vessel Anna Delius in 1881, in Lat. 45° 45′ N., Long. 54° 20′ W.

Information has been received from Staff Captain W. Tooker, R.N., H.M. surveying vessel Gulnare, that he searched for this shoal in June, 1902, over an area extending 10 miles north and south, and 12 miles east and west, without discovering any sign of its existence, nor could any confirmation of its existence be obtained from the bank fishermen engaged in fishing in the locality.

As it is considered that a shoal of 5 fathoms, described as consisting of mud, in such a locality must extend over a considerable area, and as no other report respecting it has been made, its existence is considered very problematical, and it has consequently been expunged from the charts.

(16) CHIGNECTO CHANNEL—ANDERSON HOLLOW—LIGHTHOUSE COMPLETED.

A lighthouse has been built at Anderson hollow, on the north side of Chignecto channel, Bay of Fundy, New Brunswick, to replace the lighthouse on the Government breakwater carried away on the 12th January, 1902. It stands on the edge of the bank on the shore north of the breakwater and directly opposite its outer end.

Lat. N. 45° 37′ 39″

It is a wooden tower, square in plan, with sloping sides, surmounted by a square wooden lantern, the whole painted white, and 31 feet high from its base to the vane on the lantern.

The light will be shown for the first time from the new building on the opening of navigation in 1903. It will be a fixed white light, elevated 91 feet above high water mark, and should be visible six miles from all points of approach by water. The illuminating apparatus is dioptric of the seventh order.

A hand fog horn at the lighthouse will be blown in answer to fog signals of vessels approaching the breakwater.

When the above described light and fog alarm are put in operation, the temporary red light now shown from a mast erected on the outer end of the breakwater will be permanently discontinued, and the fog horn will no longer be operated from the breakwater.

Tous les relèvements, à moins d'avis contraire, sont magnétiques et sont donnés venant de la mer, les milles sont des milles marins, les hauteurs sont au-dessus des hautes eaux, et toutes les profondeurs sont à l'eau basse moyenne.

DIVISION DES PHARES D'ONTARIO.

(18) FLEUVE SAINT-LAURENT—ENTRÉE SUPÉRIEURE DU CANAL LACHINE—FEUX D'ALIGNEMENT—CHENAL DRAGUÉ.

Le feu de tête de mât entretenu par ce ministère sur l'extrémité supérieure du quai de chemin de fer à Lachine, à l'entrée supérieure du canal Lachine, dans le comté de Jacques Cartier, province de Québec, a été, en 1900, remplacé par un phare permanent formant le feu antérieur d'un alignement établi par le ministère des Chemins de fer et Canaux pour indiquer l'axe de la tranchée draguée conduisant de l'entrée supérieure du canal au chenal de 14 pieds du réseau du Saint-Laurent en haut. En 1902 ces deux feux furent transférés à ce ministère.

Le phare antérieur repose sur un caisson construit sur l'extrémité ouest du quai de chemin de fer.

Lat. N. 45° 26′ 15″
Long. O. 73 40 56

La tour est en forme de cône tronqué, en acier, surmontée d'une lanterne cylindrique en métal. Peinturée en blanc ; le toit de la lanterne est de cuivre non peinturé. La hauteur de la construction, depuis le pont de la pile sur laquelle elle repose jusqu'au sommet du ventilateur sur la lanterne, est de 29½ pieds.

Le feu est à gaz blanc à occultations, brûlant d'un vif éclat pendant huit secondes, et d'un éclat faible pendant deux secondes, alternativement, à une hauteur de 30 pieds au-dessus du niveau l'été du lac, et devrait être visible à dix milles dans un petit rayon de chaque côté de l'alignement, et aussi dans le chenal en passant. L'appareil lumineux est catoptrique.

Le feu postérieur est à 904 pieds N. 80° 47′ E. du feu antérieur, et est semblable. Il est à 44 pieds au-dessus du niveau d'été du lac, et devrait être visible à 12 milles dans un petit rayon de chaque côté de l'alignement.

La tour est semblable à celle du feu antérieur, mais plus haute. Elle repose sur un caisson non peinturé, en eau peu profonde au fond de la baie à l'est du quai du chemin de fer, et est reliée au rivage par un sentier élevé. La hauteur du bâtiment, depuis le plancher de la pile jusqu'au sommet du ventilateur sur la lanterne, est de 48½ pieds.

Les deux feux en conjonction, dans une direction S. 80° 47′ O., conduisent dans l'axe de la tranchée draguée, jusqu'au point de virement à 1½ milles de distance.

Un nouveau chenal, large de 300 pieds, profondeur règlementaire, s'étend du quai du chemin de fer sur 1½ mille dans l'axe des feux, jusqu'à la bouée à gaz No. 38 S., où le chenal se détourne à N. 83° 23′ O., vers le bateau-feu No. 2. Les deux côtés de ce chenal sont marqués par des espars (voir Avis aux Navigateurs No. 74 (264) de 1902.

OTTAWA, Thursday, 12th March, 1903.

This day, at THREE o'clock P.M., HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR GENERAL proceeded in state to the Chamber of the Senate, in the Parliament Buildings, and took his seat upon the Throne. The Members of the Senate being assembled, His Excellency was pleased to command the attendance of the House of Commons, and that House being present, His Excellency was pleased to open the THIRD SESSION of the NINTH PARLIAMENT OF THE DOMINION OF CANADA, with the following Speech :—

Honourable Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I am glad to be able to congratulate you on the continued prosperity that prevails throughout the Dominion. Canada has received many blessings during the past year which call for the expression of our heartfelt gratitude to a kind Providence.

I had the pleasure of visiting London last summer in anticipation of the Coronation of His Majesty, and to meet on that occasion representatives from all parts of the Empire bringing with them assurances of the loyalty and contentment that prevails throughout His Majesty's widely extended possessions; and though, at one time, fears were entertained that the King's illness would have involved a further postponement of the ceremony, it was a source of much joy and happiness to His Majesty's subjects that his health was so speedily and perfectly restored.

Representatives of this Government participated in the important Colonial Conference which was called by His Majesty's Government in connection with the Coronation. The report of the proceedings of the Conference, including the documents submitted by the Canadian representatives, has already been given to the public, by His Majesty's Government in London. I feel assured that much good will result from the bringing the leading public men of the great self-governing colonies into direct contact with each other and with the statesmen of the Motherland.

The great influx of population into our North-western territories and the very large additional areas of fertile land which are being brought under cultivation combine to further press upon us the need for increased transportation facilities for the forwarding of our grain and other products to the markets of the world, through Canadian channels. The whole question of transportation and terminal facilities continues to occupy much attention, and my Government will immediately appoint a Commission of experienced men to report on the subject.

A treaty has been entered into between His Majesty and the Government of the United States, under which the proper delimitation of the boundaries between Canada and Alaska is to be judicially determined by a tribunal of six impartial jurists of repute.

As a result of the recent decennial Census, the representation of the different provinces must be re-adjusted, as required by the British North America Act, and a Bill will be introduced for that purpose.

Bills with respect to the creation of a Railway Commission, the amendment of the Patent Laws, the Militia Act, Chinese immigration, the reorganization of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, the settlement of Railway labour disputes, and various other subjects will be submitted to you.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The Public Accounts will be laid before you and also the estimates for the coming year, which have been prepared with due regard to economy and the rapid growth of the Dominion.

Honourable Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I pray that in the consideration of these matters and in the performance of all the labours which will devolve on you, your deliberations, under Divine guidance, will tend still to increase the prosperity and happiness of our people.

PROCLAMATIONS.

MINTO.

Of all which Our loving subjects and all others whom these presents may concern, are hereby required to take notice and to govern themselves accordingly.

ON a Report dated 19th February, 1903, from the Minister of the Interior, stating that it having been represented to him that owing to their occupation on the rivers of the north, certain Half-breeds were unable to make claims before the Commission appointed to investigate and adjudicate upon the claims of Half-breeds at Lac La Biche and in the District of Athabasca and the adjoining country covered by Treaty No. 8, he authorized Mr. H. A. Conroy, Inspector for Indian Treaty No. 8, by letter dated the 7th November, 1902, on his visit to Lac La Biche and in the Lesser Slave Lake Country for the purpose of making the Indian Treaty payments, to receive evidence under oath in support of the claims of Half-breeds who were unable to appear before the former Commission or to make their claims before Mr. Macrae in 1900.

The Minister further states that he has recently received from Mr. Conroy the evidence taken before him, under the instructions above mentioned, in 64 applications for scrip.

(29) LAKE HURON—NORTH CHANNEL—BRUCE MINES—LIGHT ESTABLISHED.

A light established by the Government of Canada on the new Government wharf at Bruce Mines, was put in operation in July, 1902.

Lat. N. 46° 17′ 47″
Long. W. 83 47 23

The light is shown from an anchor lens lantern on a shelf on the southeast corner of the unpainted warehouse, and 60 feet from the outer end of the wharf.

The light is a fixed white light, elevated 12 feet above the level of the lake, and should be visible 5 miles from all points of approach by water. The illuminating apparatus is dioptric of the seventh order.

The wharf extends from the shore at the foot of Marks street S. 30° E. 1000 feet, and its outer end is distant 200 feet to the westward of the Bruce Copper Mines wharf.

The Bruce Copper Mines, limited, have notified the Department of their intention to continue maintaining a red light on the southeast corner of the warehouse on the outer end of their private wharf, but this will be in no way under governmental control, or receive assistance, and will therefore be no longer continued in the list of lights.

NOVA SCOTIA.

(19) NORTH ATLANTIC OCEAN—SABLE ISLAND—SAILING DIRECTIONS.

The following particulars respecting Sable island have been rewritten by the Chief Engineer of this department from the sailing directions for the southeast of Nova Scotia and bay of Fundy, published by the British Admiralty office in 1894, and embody the results of a survey made by him in October, 1899, as well as later departmental records:—

Sable island, so called because it consists practically of pure sand, is shaped like a bow, concave to the northward. The north and south sides of the island are formed of two nearly parallel ridges of hills, steep towards the sea, but sloping gradually inward to the interior of the island, which is low and comparatively flat. The whole length of the island, following the curve and including the dry parts of the bars, is 23 miles; or S. 77° E., 21¾ miles, in a direct line across the curve; its greatest breadth is 1⅕ miles. In most parts it is wholly or partially covered with grass; but in some places the sand is scooped out by the winds into crater-shaped hollows, or thrown up into hills, varying in height to a maximum of 110 feet above high water. Some of these hills are frequently changed in position by the wind. Between the bordering ridges a long pond named Lake Wallace, gradually filling with blown sand, but still in some parts 12 feet deep, extends from near the west end to the distance of ten miles; and a low valley continues from it 6 miles to the northeast end of the island. Lake Wallace is sometimes connected with the sea by mean of a channel through the south bar, at other times the channel is entirely closed by storm. New channels are usually in different localities from the old ones. When there is no channel the sea flows into the pond over the low sandy beach only in high tides and heavy gales.

When seen from the north, from a distance of 9 or 10 miles, the island presents the appearance of a long range of sand-hills, some of which are very white. From the south, the range of white sand appears more continuous, and very low towards the west end. On a nearer approach many of the sand-hills are seen to have been partly removed by the wind, so as to form steep cliffs next the sea. In most parts they are covered by grass, and defended by a broad beach, which, however, cannot be reached without passing over bars of sand covered with only a few feet of water. These bars, which are parallel to the shore at distances not exceeding one-third of a mile, form heavy breakers, and are dangerous to passing boats, when there is any sea running.

Lights.—The lighthouse near the east end of Sable island is an octagonal wooden building, 86 feet in height, with its sides painted alternately white and brown. It is situated 1½ miles west from the east point of the hills, or 5 miles from the extremity of the dry spit, and exhibits, at an elevation of 128 feet above high water, a fixed white light, which should be seen in clear weather from a distance of 17 miles.

The lighthouse near the west end of Sable island is an octagonal wooden building, 98 feet in height, painted white, with a red roof.

It stands 1⅕ miles from the west extremity of the dry spit and 16⅔ miles N. 72½° W. from the east lighthouse, and exhibits, at an elevation of 118 feet above high water, a group flashing white light, which shows three distinct flashes at intervals of half a minute, and is then eclipsed during one and a half minutes, the whole occupying three minutes. It should be visible in clear weather for a distance of 16 miles.

Positions.—The main station flagstaff on Sable island is in lat. 43° 56′ 24″ N., long. 60° 2′ 47″ W.; the west extremity of the grassy sand-hills in latitude 43° 56′ 44″ N., long. 60° 7′ 20″ W.; and the east extremity of the grassy sand-hills in lat. 43° 59′ 9″ N., and long. 59° 42′ 13″ W. In 1852 these extremities were respectively in lat. 43° 56′ 44″ N., longitude 60° 8′ 31″ W., and lat. 43° 58′ 57″ N., longitude 59° 45′ 33″ W.; but now the sea covers land at the west end were vegetation was formerly seen and new land is gradually making at the east end, as vegetation now appears were it was covered by water. Since the lighthouses were established in 1873 it has been necessary to move the west end lighthouse eastward on two occasions and the continuous wasting of the west end will soon render a third removal requisite. The distance of the island from the lighthouse on Whitehead island, the nearest part of Nova Scotia, is 85 miles.

Productions.—The quantity and variety of vegetation on this gigantic sand bar is extraordinary. Besides two kinds of grass, there are wild peas and other plants, affording subsistence to wild ponies, as well as to the domestic cattle belonging to the establishment. There are no other animals on the island. there are four or five kinds of edible berries in great abundance, and many flowers and shrubs, but no trees, except in a plantation experimentally established in 1901. There are good gardens at the several stations. The climate is much milder and more equable that on the neighbouring mainland, but high winds are frequent, and in winter storms, salt spray is carried across the land, scalding and destroying all but the hardiest vegetation.

Fresh water can be obtained in almost any part by digging down a few feet into the sand in the flats, or from the numerous ponds. Seals, and abundance of wild fowl, frequent the island in their seasons.

The fisheries around the island are exceedingly valuable, but the danger of remaining near its formidable bars has hitherto restricted the number of vessels engaged in them.

The establishment on Sable island for the relief of shipwrecked persons is supported by the government of Canada, with the assistance of an annual grant of £400 by the Imperial government; a small revenue is derived from the periodical sale of wild ponies, cranberries, &c., and occasionally from salvage on the sale of wrecked vessels and their cargoes. The headquarters, or main station, is situated $2\frac{3}{4}$ miles east of the west lighthouse, on the north side of the island, between the lake and the sand-hills, and consists of a comfortable house for the superintendent and his family, buildings for the men and occasional accommodation of shipwrecked persons, stores, workshops, stabling, &c.

The flagstaff which points out the position of the main station stands on a sand-hill 40 feet high, and with its crows-nest or look-out, 100 feet above the sea, is a conspicuous object on the north side of the island. Another station, known as No. 2 station, is situated on the north side of the island, $4\frac{2}{5}$ miles east of main station; the flagstaff here stands on the summit of a sand-hill, but, having no crows-nest, is not conspicuous.

No. 3 station is farther inland, at the east end of Wallace lake, 4 miles to the eastward of No. 2, and $4\frac{1}{5}$ miles to the westward of No. 4 station. The flagstaff here with its crows-nest is the most conspicuous in approaching from the southward and the life-boat house connected with the station is on the summit of the ridge on the south shore.

No. 4 station on the north side of the island is $1\frac{1}{5}$ miles to the westward of the eastern lighthouse; the flagstaff here with its crows-nest standing on a sand-hill on the north shore is a conspicuous object.

These four look-outs with the two lighthouses form a chain of stations from which the shores of the whole island with its bars are watched in clear and patrolled in thick or bad weather; each station is in charge of a married man, who has a comfortable dwelling, so that shipwrecked mariners or passengers are sure of prompt relief. No wrecks can take place on the island at a greater distance than five miles from some one of these posts, and in the event of a wreck occurring the outpost notifies the superintendent at the main station, all the stations, as well as the hut on the east bar, being connected by telephone.

The superintendent has under him 17 men, who are stationed as follows, viz.:—the superintendent and seven men at the main station; the lightkeeper and 1 assistant at the west end lighthouse; the lightkeeper and 1 assistant at the east end lighthouse; two men at No. 2; 2 men at No. 3, and 3 men at No. 4 station.

In 1900 Sable island had 46 inhabitants, consisting of the staff with their families. Residence on the island without a license from the Minister of Marine and Fisheries is illegal, and a punishable offence.

Communication.—The Department of Marine and Fisheries of Canada sends a lighthouse tender periodically to the island, and the superintendent has in store a seaworthy sloop, which can be used for crossing to the mainland in case of necessity.

Wrecks.—From a wreck chart prepared in Canada, it appears that the number of known wrecks on Sable island and its bars, for each decennial period of the last century, are as follows:—Ending 1810, eleven; 1820, nine; 1830, eighteen; 1840, twenty-five; 1850, twenty; 1860, twenty-three; 1870, eighteen; 1880, nineteen; 1890, ten; and 1900, twelve.

Life-saving apparatus.—Life boats are stationed at No. 4 station, at No. 3 station, and at the main station, besides surf boats. There is also a rocket apparatus at the main station, and a life car at No. 4 station.

During fogs and snow storms mounted men patrol the beach to ascertain if any wrecks have taken place.

Mariners are advised that the only loss of life which has occurred on Sable island since the life-saving establishment was organized has been caused by sailors leaving their ships in their own boats. In every case where crews have waited for the line-throwing apparatus or the life-boats they have been saved.

In case of wreck, mariners will do well to bear this in mind and endeavour to remain by their ships until the assistance of the island staff is available.

The West Bar in 1899 dried about three quarters of a mile from the end of the grassy sand-hills, but changes in size and shape with every storm. There are several patches nearly dry about a mile farther out, and then nine miles of heavy breakers, succeeded, in bad weather, by seven miles more in which the depth increases from 5 to 10 fathoms, and where there is usually a great ripple and a heavy cross sea. Since 1852 the sea has encroached on the land and covered places where grass formerly grew, and in 1888 this encroachment threatened the destruction of the western lighthouse, necessitating its removal to a position $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles farther to the eastward. The direction of this bar is N.W. $\frac{1}{2}$ N. for the first 12 miles, thence W. by N. for the remaining distance; the whole extent of the bar from the end of the grassy sand-hills to the depth of 10 fathoms being 17 miles, beyond which the water deepens gradually to the westward for many miles. Mariners having local knowledge cross this bar through a channel which exists within two or three miles of the dry bar, but which has not been surveyed.

Caution.—In consequence of the submergence of part of the West bar, and the necessitated removal of the lighthouse eastward, mariners are cautioned that that there will probably be increased danger in navigating in the vicinity of the west end of Sable island.

The East Bar, during fine weather, dried in 1899 about $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles from East point, the end of the grassy sand-hills. At a distance of $2\frac{1}{4}$ miles northeastward from the east lighthouse a hut has been built to serve as a shelter for mariners wrecked on the east dry bar. This hut contains fuel, provisions and water, and is connected with all the stations by telephone. The $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles of dry sand are succeeded by 8 or 9 miles of heavy breakers; the whole length of this bar, from the grassy sand-hills to the depth of 10 fathoms, being 14 miles.

Since 1852 the sea has receded, and vegetation now appears in places which were covered by water. Its direction is E.N.E. for the first 7 miles, beyond which it curves gradually to E.S.E. till it terminates. The ridge of sand, with a depth of from 10 to 13 fathoms on it, and with often a heavy cross sea, continues for ten miles farther to the E.S.E., and then ends abruptly, the depth increasing, in a distance of 3 miles farther in the same direction, to 170 fathoms, in the channel between Sable island and Banquereau bank.

Sable island and its submerged bars form a crescent, concave towards the north, and extend over more than 50 miles of sea. Vessels should be careful not to be caught within this crescent in a strong gale from the northward, when the accelerated ebb tide, setting directly towards and over the bars, would render their situation extremely dangerous. Both the bars are extremely steep on the north side, the East bar especially so, having 30 fathoms water close to it. To the southward, on the contrary, the water deepens gradually for many miles, and renders it difficult to account for the great number of shipwrecks on that side of the island and its bars, unless they are to be attributed to the neglect of the lead.

Wrecks on the bars are of course far more dangerous to life than those that take place on the island, and it is important in such cases to know on which bar the vessel is, and the consequent direction in which to seek for safety on the island. This information, when the island is hidden by fog, or the darkness of night, must be sought by observing the direction of the line of breakers, which on the East bar is between N.E.

by E. and East, until near its outer extremity, whilst on the West bar it is N.W. ½ N.

Anchorage.—Off the north side of Sable island, excepting near the east end, where the deep water approaches too near the shore, there is good anchorage in 5 to 10 fathoms, from one to two miles off shore. The bottom is fine sand, and holds well, but the sea is so heavy, excepting with off-shore winds, that a vessel should weigh immediately on first indications of a wind from seaward.

Directions.—In approaching the anchorage off Sable island from the northward at night or in thick weather, the lead should be kept constantly going; and after passing the middle ground, distant about 25 miles to the northward of the island, great caution should be used, and the vessel should be certain of her position, for the east end of the island and the east bar are very steep on that side.

Vessels seldom anchor off the south side of the island because of the prevailing heavy swell from the southward; but they may safely approach by the lead on that side, taking care not to become becalmed in a heavy swell, and in the strong and uncertain tides and currents near the bars.

The landing is in general impracticable on the south side, excepting after a long continuance of northerly winds; and on the north side boats can land only during southerly winds and fine weather. The best method of communicating with the island is to anchor in 7 fathoms, ¾ mile N. 16° E. of the main station, and signal to the lookout. A surf boat will go out from the station if a landing is practicable, and this boat, with its experienced crew, can land when ordinary boats would swamp.

Tides.—It is high water, full and change, on the north side of Sable island at 7h. 30m., and on the south side about an hour earlier; springs rise about 4 feet. The tidal streams are much influenced by the wind. The ebb sets to the southward on and over the bars, often at the rate of 1½ or 2 knots an hour; the flood at a much less rate in a contrary direction.

(20) STRAIT OF GEORGIA—FRASER RIVER MOUTH—LIGHTS ESTABLISHED.

Two beacon light buildings have been erected by the Government of Canada on the sand heads of the Fraser river. Each structure consists of a square wooden tower, 8 feet high, painted white, standing on a platform supported on piles.

The lights, which will be put in operation without further notice on or about 1st March, 1903, will be fixed white lights, shown from 31-day Wigham lamps, elevated 22 feet above high water mark, and should be visible 9 miles from all points of approach by water. The illuminating apparatus consists of pressed glass lenses. The lights will be of the class of unwatched lights.

North dam lighthouse.—The more easterly structure stands at the southwest end of the dam across the opening to the northward, on the south edge of the sand head on the north side of the main channel into the Fraser river, and to the north of No. 2 red buoy.

Lat. N. 49° 7′ 27″
Long. W. 123 13 41

The light is S. 72° 51′ W. 1⅝ miles from Garry point light, and a line joining the two lights is directly in the channel and brings the red buoys on the starboard side in entering.

South curve lighthouse.—The more westerly light stands on the north edge of the sand heads on the south side of the main channel into the Fraser river, southwardly from No. 4 black buoy.

(17) Northern channels—Graham reach—Khutze inlet—Anchorage.

The Chief Engineer of this Department when in British Columbia in August, 1902, made a survey of Khutze inlet, which runs inland from the east shore of Graham reach, and found good anchorage ⅝ mile up the inlet from the prominent point on the north side of the entrance. The depth decreases gradually from 60 and 70 fathoms at the entrance to 25 fathoms, and then abruptly to a bar with only 2¼ fathoms on it towards the south shore of the inlet. Good anchorage in 8 fathoms will be found 1⅓ cables N. 73° W. from the low spit on the south shore of the inlet, named Green spit. To find this anchorage mariners can go up the middle of the inlet with confidence until the extremity of this Green spit, which is the first low land seen on the south shore, bears due east, when they should proceed very slowly, sounding until a suitable depth is reached.

The bar described extends across the inlet, but has a depth of 10 fathoms on it near the north shore. Above the bar the water appears to be deep, but was not thoroughly sounded.

The inlet ends in a mud flat deposited from glacial streams.

(18) ST. LAWRENCE RIVER—UPPER ENTRANCE TO LACHINE CANAL—RANGE LIGHTS.—DREDGED CHANNEL.

The mast light maintained by this Department on the upper end of the railway wharf at Lachine, at the upper entrance to the Lachine canal, in the county of Jacques Cartier, province of Quebec, was, in 1900, replaced by a permanent lighthouse forming the front light of a range established by the Department of Railways and Canals to indicate the axis of the dredged cut leading from the upper entrance of the canal into the 14-foot channel of the upper St. Lawrence system. These two lights were in 1902 transferred to the control of this department.

The front range lighthouse stands on an unpainted cribwork block, built on the west extremity of the railway wharf.

Lat. N. 45° 26′ 15″
Long. W. 73 40 56

The tower is in the form of the frustum of a cone, in steel, surmounted by a cylindrical metal lantern. It is painted white; the roof of the lantern is or unpainted copper. The height of the building, from the deck of the block on which it stands to the top of the ventilator on the lantern, is 29½ feet.

The light is an occulting white gas light, burning with full power for eight seconds, and with a dim light for two seconds, alternately, elevated 30 feet above the summer level of the lake. It should be visible 10 miles in, and over a small arc on each side of, the line of range, and also in the channel in passing. The illuminating apparatus is catoptric.

The back light is distant 904 feet N. 80° 47′ E. from the front one, and is a similar light. It is elevated 44 feet above the summer level of the lake, and should be visible 12 miles in, and over a small arc on each side of, the line of range.

The tower is similar to the front range light tower, but is higher. It stands on an unpainted cribwork block, in shoal water, in the bottom of the bay east of the railway wharf, and is connected with the shore by an elevated footpath. The height of the building, from the deck of the block to the top of the ventilator on the lantern, is 48½ feet.

The two lights in one, bearing S. 80° 47′ W., lead through the axis of the dredged cut, to the turning point 1½ miles distant.

A new channel, 300 feet wide, of canal depth, extends from the railway wharf for 1½ miles in the axis of the lights, to gas buoy No. 38 S., where the channel turns to a course N. 83° 23′ W., towards lightship No. 2. Both sides of this dredged channel are marked by spar buoys (see notice to mariners No. 74 (264) of 1902).

SALLE DU SÉNAT,

OTTAWA, jeudi, 12 mars 1903.

Aujourd'hui, à TROIS heures P.M., SON EXCELLENCE LE GOUVERNEUR GÉNÉRAL s'est rendu, avec le cérémonial ordinaire, à la Salle du Sénat, dans l'édifice du Parlement, et a pris son siège sur le Trône. Les membres du Sénat s'étant assemblés, il a plu à Son Excellence d'y faire requérir la présence de la Chambre des Communes, et cette Chambre s'y étant rendue, Son Excellence a ouvert la TROISIÈME SESSION du NEUVIÈME PARLEMENT DE LA PUISSANCE DU CANADA, par le discours suivant :—

Honorables Messieurs du Sénat :
Messieurs de la Chambre des Communes :

Je suis content de pouvoir vous féliciter de la prospérité qui continue de régner dans tout le Dominion. Durant l'année dernière une Providence généreuse a répandu sur le Canada de nombreux bienfaits qui sollicitent l'expression de notre profonde reconnaissance envers elle.

L'été dernier j'ai eu le plaisir de visiter Londres, par anticipation du couronnement de Sa Majesté, et de rencontrer à cette occasion des représentants de toutes les parties de l'Empire, qui venaient protester de la fidélité et du contentement régnant dans toute l'étendue des vastes possessions de Sa Majesté ; et bien que la maladie du Roi ait fait craindre, un moment, que la cérémonie ne fût encore remise à plus tard, le rétablissement de la santé de Sa Majesté fut si prompt et si complet que ses sujets en ont éprouvé une joie et un bonheur tout particuliers.

Des représentants de ce Gouvernement ont pris part à l'importante Conférence coloniale convoquée par le Gouvernement de Sa Majesté à l'occasion du couronnement. Le Gouvernement de Sa Majesté à Londres a déjà communiqué au public le compte rendu des délibérations de la conférence, y compris les documents soumis par les représentants du Canada. Je suis certain qu'il résultera beaucoup de bien de ce que les principaux politiques des grandes colonies autonomes ont été mis directement en contact les uns avec les autres et avec les hommes d'Etat de la mère patrie.

La grande affluence de peuple dans nos territoires du Nord-Ouest et la mise en culture de nouvelles et très grandes étendues de terre fertile nous prêchent la nécessité d'augmenter les moyens de favoriser le transport, par voies canadiennes, de notre grain et de nos autres produits, aux différents marchés de l'univers. Toute cette question de transport et d'installation de tête de ligne continuant de beaucoup occuper l'attention, mon Gouvernement va instituer immédiatement une commission d'experts qui devra faire rapport à ce sujet.

Il a été conclu entre Sa Majesté et le Gouvernement des États-Unis un traité d'après lequel la ligne de démarcation qui doit séparer le Canada de l'Alaska sera déterminée judiciairement par un tribunal composé de six juristes renommés pour leur droiture et leur science.

Par suite du nouveau recensement décennal, il va falloir rajuster la représentation des différentes provinces, comme l'exige l'Acte de l'Amérique Britannique du Nord, et il sera présenté un Bill à cette fin.

Des Bills concernant l'institution d'une commission des chemins de fer, la modification de la loi des brevets, la loi de la milice, l'immigration chinoise, la réorganisation du ministère de la Marine et des Pêcheries, le règlement des différends entre patrons et employés de chemins de fer, et divers autres sujets, vous seront soumis.

Messieurs de la Chambre des Communes :

Les comptes publics ainsi que les estimations budgétaires pour l'an prochain, qu'on a préparées avec tout le soin qu'exigent l'économie et le prompt développement du Dominion, seront déposés devant vous.

Honorables Messieurs du Sénat :

Messieurs de la Chambre des Communes :

Je souhaite que vos délibérations se rattachant à l'étude de ces matières et à l'exécution de tous les travaux dont vous allez être chargés, tendent à ajouter encore, Dieu aidant, à la prospérité et au bonheur de notre peuple.

PROCLAMATIONS.

De ce qui précède Nos féaux sujets et tous ceux que les présentes peuvent concerner, sont par les présentes requis d'en prendre avis et d'agir en conséquence.

DIVISION DES PHARES D'ONTARIO.

(18) FLEUVE SAINT-LAURENT—ENTRÉE SUPÉRIEURE DU CANAL LACHINE—FEUX D'ALIGNEMENT—CHENAL DRAGUÉ.

Le feu de tête de mât entretenu par ce ministère sur l'extrémité supérieure du quai de chemin de fer à Lachine, à l'entrée supérieure du canal Lachine, dans le comté de Jacques Cartier, province de Québec, a été, en 1900, remplacé par un phare permanent formant le feu antérieur d'un alignement établi par le ministère des Chemins de fer et Canaux pour indiquer l'axe de la tranchée draguée conduisant de l'entrée supérieure du canal au chenal de 14 pieds du réseau du Saint-Laurent en haut. En 1902 ces deux feux furent transférés à ce ministère.

Le phare antérieur repose sur un caisson construit sur l'extrémité ouest du quai de chemin de fer.

Lat. N. 45° 26′ 15″
Long. O. 73 40 56

La tour est en forme de cône tronqué, en acier, surmontée d'une lanterne cylindrique en métal. Peinturée en blanc ; le toit de la lanterne est de cuivre non peinturé. La hauteur de la construction, depuis le pont de la pile sur laquelle elle repose jusqu'au sommet du ventilateur sur la lanterne, est de 29½ pieds.

Le feu est à gaz blanc à occultations, brûlant d'un vif éclat pendant huit secondes, et d'un éclat faible pendant deux secondes, alternativement, à une hauteur de 30 pieds au-dessus du niveau l'été du lac, et devrait être visible à dix milles dans un petit rayon de chaque côté de l'alignement, et aussi dans le chenal en passant. L'appareil lumineux est catoptrique.

Le feu postérieur est à 904 pieds N. 80° 47′ E. du feu antérieur, et est semblable. Il est à 44 pieds au-dessus du niveau d'été du lac, et devrait être visible à 12 milles dans un petit rayon de chaque côté de l'alignement.

La tour est semblable à celle du feu antérieur, mais plus haute. Elle repose sur un caisson non peinturé, en eau peu profonde au fond de la baie à l'est du quai du chemin de fer, et est reliée au rivage par un entier élevé. La hauteur du bâtiment, depuis le plancher de la pile jusqu'au sommet du ventilateur sur la lanterne, est de 48½ pieds.

Les deux feux en conjonction, dans une direction S. 80° 47′ O., conduisent dans l'axe de la tranchée draguée, jusqu'au point de virement à 1½ milles de distance.

Un nouveau chenal, large de 300 pieds, profondeur règlementaire, s'étend du quai du chemin de fer sur 1½ mille dans l'axe des feux, jusqu'à la bouée à gaz No. 38 S., où le chenal se détourne à N. 83° 23′ O., vers le bateau-feu No. 2. Les deux côtés de ce chenal sont marqués par des espars (voir Avis aux Navigateurs No. 74 (264) de 1902.

DEMANDES AU PARLEMENT.

Règles in re Avis de bills privés.

Dans le cas de toute demande de bills privés, proprement du ressort législatif du Parlement du Canada suivant les dispositions de l'Acte de l'Amérique Britannique du Nord, 1867, ayant pour objet la concession à une ou plusieurs personnes de certains droits ou privilèges exclusifs ou particuliers, ou le pouvoir de faire quelque chose qui, dans ses effets, pourrait toucher aux droits ou à la propriété d'autrui, ou concerner une classe particulière de la société ; ou ayant pour objet quelque amendement à un acte antérieur,—un avis, énonçant d'une manière claire et intelligible la nature et l'objet de la demande (sauf s'il s'agit de corporations déjà existantes) par les pétitionnaires ou de leur part, est nécessaire et doit être publié comme il suit :—

Dans les provinces de Québec et du Manitoba.

Dans la Gazette du Canada en anglais et en français, ainsi que dans un journal anglais et un journal français, du district intéressé, ou en anglais et en français dans le même journal, s'il ne s'en publie qu'un seul dans ce district ; ou s'il n'y paraît pas de journal, alors la publication de l'avis en anglais et en français doit se faire dans un journal du district le plus voisin où il s'en publie.

Dans les autres provinces ou territoires.

Dans la Gazette du Canada, et dans un journal du comté, du district ou des comtés-unis intéressés, ou s'il n'y paraît pas de journal alors la publication doit se faire dans un journal du comté ou district le plus voisin où il s'en publie. La publication de ces avis durera, dans chaque cas, la période de deux mois au moins pendant l'intervalle de temps qui s'écoulera entre la clôture de la session précédente et la prise en considération de la pétition. Des exemplaires marqués de tous les numéros des journaux reproduisant la première et la dernière insertion de l'avis, devront être transmis au greffier de chaque chambre, et porter à l'enclos " Demande de bill privé."

Si la pétition demande l'autorisation de présenter un bill privé ayant pour objet la construction d'un pont de péage, les pétitionnaires devront aussi, en même temps et de la même manière, donner avis du taux de péages projeté, de l'étendue du privilège, de la hauteur des arches, de l'espace à laisser libre entre les culées ou les piles pour le passage des radeaux et des navires ; et, si c'est un pont mobile, quelles en seront les dimensions.

Toute personne désirant obtenir un bill privé devra, dans les huit jours au moins qui précéderont l'ouverture du parlement, déposer au bureau du greffier de la Chambre dans laquelle le bill doit prendre naissance une copie de ce bill en langue anglaise ou en langue française, avec une somme suffisante pour en payer la traduction et l'impression. Après la seconde lecture et avant la prise en considération du bill par tout comité, le pétitionnaire aura aussi à payer au greffier du Sénat, ou au comptable de la Chambre des Communes (selon le cas) un honoraire de $200, plus une somme suffisante pour défrayer le coût de l'impression de l'acte dans les Statuts, et remettra le reçu de ce paiement au greffier du comité auquel ce bill aura été renvoyé.

L'honoraire de $200 payable sur tout bill privé, ne sera payé que dans la Chambre où ce bill a pris naissance ; mais les frais de réimpression et de traduction nécessités par ce bill seront payés dans la Chambre où ces frais sont encourus.

Aucune pétition pour l'obtention d'un bill privé ne sera reçue par le Sénat ou par la Chambre des Communes, après les premières trois semaines de la session.

Aucun bill privé ne pourra être présenté au Sénat ou à la Chambre des Communes après les premières quatre semaines de la session.

SAML. E. ST. O. CHAPLEAU,
Greffier du Sénat.

THOMAS B. FLINT,
Greffier des Communes.

Règle spéciale du Sénat.

49. (c.) Chaque fois qu'un bill doit opérer dans plus d'une province, territoire ou district, l'avis sera publié dans la Gazette du Canada et dans un journal bien établi publié dans chaque province, territoire ou district où le bill doit opérer.

Ordre permanent.

Lorsqu'un bill confirmant un bail, une convention ou toute autre espèce de contrat, sera reçu ou présenté au Sénat, ce bail, cette convention ou cette autre espèce de contrat sera exposé dans un appendice ou autrement.

SAML. E. ST. O. CHAPLEAU,
Greffier du Sénat.

Tous les bills privés demandant des actes constitutifs devront être rédigés de manière à y incorporer, en les spécifiant, les clauses des Actes généraux concernant les détails qui font l'objet de ces bills ; des raisons spéciales seront données chaque fois que l'on aura l'intention de se départir de ce principe, ou que l'on voudra y introduire d'autres dispositions touchant ces détails ; et une note sera annexée au bill indiquant les dispositions au sujet desquelles l'on entend s'écarter de l'Acte général ; les bills qui ne seront pas rédigés conformément à cette Règle, devront être remodelés par les auteurs et réimprimés à leurs frais, avant qu'aucun comité en examine les clauses.

(a.) Les dispositions contenues dans un bill quelconque qui ne seront pas conformes au bill-modèle, seront insérées entre crochets, et après avoir été revisées par l'officier compétent, elles seront imprimées

ainsi ; et les bills qui ne seront pas rédigés en conformité de cette règle seront renvoyés aux auteurs pour être remodelés avant leur revision et impression ;

(b.) Toutes clauses d'actes existants que l'on proposera de modifier, seront imprimées en entier, avec les amendements insérés en leur lieu et place, et entre crochets ;

(a.) Une carte ou plan à l'échelle de pas moins d'un demi-pouce au mille, indiquant le territoire sur lequel l'on se propose de construire les travaux projetés, ainsi que les lignes de travaux analogues existants ou autorisés dans les limites du district, ou partie du district que la ligne projetée doit desservir, ou affectant le dit district en aucune manière ; cette carte ou plan devra être signé par l'ingénieur ou toute autre personne qui l'aura fait ;

(b.) Un exhibit faisant connaître le montant total du capital que l'on se propose de prélever pour les fins de l'entreprise, et la manière dont on se propose de le prélever, soit au moyen d'actions ordinaires, obligations, débentures ou autres garanties, et le montant respectif de chacune.

THOMAS B. FLINT,
Greffier des Communes.

ORDRE SPÉCIAL DE LA CHAMBRE DES COMMUNES.

Résolu,—Que le greffier de la Chambre adresse une copie de la Règle 49 modifiée aux personnes qui signifient dans la Gazette du Canada leur intention de s'adresser au parlement pour la passation d'un bill privé, ainsi qu'un avis portant que la dite Règle sera strictement appliquée à l'avenir :—

49. Les pétitions pour bills privés ne seront reçues par la Chambre que pendant les trois premières semaines de la session, et les bills privés ne pourront être présentés à la Chambre que pendant les quatre premières semaines de la session ; et tout comité auquel aura été renvoyé un bill privé devra le prendre en considération et en faire rapport à la Chambre avec toute la diligence convenable.

2. Qu'il soit enjoint à tous les comités sur bills privés, dans le cas où les promoteurs ne seraient point prêts à procéder avec leurs mesures quand celles-ci auront été appelées deux fois en deux occasions différentes devant le comité pour y être considérées, de rapporter ces mesures à la Chambre sans délai, faisant connaître les faits, et avec la recommandation que ces bills soient retirés."

THOMAS B. FLINT,
Greffier des Communes.

SUBSTANCE DES RÈGLES ET FORMES DE PROCÉDER DU SÉNAT CONCERNANT LES BILLS DE DIVORCE.

L'époux qui a l'intention de demander un bill de divorce doit faire connaître cette intention, ainsi que les noms de l'autre époux et la cause du divorce, par avis inséré durant six mois avant la présentation de sa pétition pour obtenir le bill, dans la Gazette du Canada et dans deux journaux du district où il avait sa résidence habituelle à l'époque de séparation d'avec son conjoint, s'il résidait alors dans la province de Québec, le Manitoba, la Colombie-Britannique, ou les Territoires du Nord-Ouest,—ou du comté ou des comtés-unis, s'il résidait dans une autre province ; mais si ce nombre de journaux ne s'y trouve pas, l'avis sera publié dans le district, le comté ou les comtés-unis voisins. Il doit être signifié, à la diligence de l'époux pétitionnaire, un mois au moins avant la présentation de la pétition, une copie de cet avis à l'autre époux en personne, si cela est possible.

Elle énoncera sommairement le fait du mariage, le lieu et l'époque de sa célébration, les noms du célébrant, les griefs qui donnent lieu à la demande de redressement et la nature du redressement demandé, et en outre contiendra assurance qu'il n'y a pas eu réconciliation, collusion ni connivence. Les allégations de la pétition seront appuyées de la déclaration du pétitionnaire faite en vertu de "l'Acte de la preuve en Canada, 1893."

Huit jours avant l'ouverture du Parlement, le pétitionnaire déposera au bureau du greffier du Sénat, une copie en langue anglaise ou française du bill de divorce qui doit être présenté, et en même temps une somme suffisante pour payer la traduction et l'impression et tirage à 600 exemplaires anglais et 200 exemplaires français de ce bill.
